Terrorists Plant Bombs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The terrorist New World Liberation Front says it has planted three time bombs to go off by Saturday at two Pacific Gas & Electric Co. sites in the San Francisco Bay area.

A communique, revealed Monday and signed by the NWLF Central Command, warned PG&E employees to stay away from work until after July 10 so they won't be hurt.

A spokesman for the utility said employees should report to work and that operations would continue as usual.

At a hastily organized news conference, a member of an above-ground support group for the NWLF read the communique warning of the bombs and threatening further attacks.

Ande Lougher, of NWLF People's Information Relay-1, quoted the communique as saying three "calendar clocks are placed at two PG&E sites in the Bay Area."

"I don't think PG&E workers will lose their jobs (for staying away from work)," 25-year-old Miss Lougher said, "and if they do, that just says something for PG&E."

The terrorist group has claimed responsibility for sabotaging PG&E facilities five times since March 21, 1975.

Paul Girard, PG&E public information officer, called the warning "an insane threat."

"Operations will continue in a normal fashion," he said. "Our employees are trained to be vigilant, and we expect them to continue in that fashion."

Charles Nixon, spokesman for the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division of the U.S. Treasury, which is handling the case, had no immediate comment.

Groups using the name NWLF have claimed responsibility for a number of bombings, including one earlier this year at the famous Hearst Castle in San Simeon, a police car bombing in Marin County and explosions at foreign consulates and corporate offices in the San Francisco Bay area.

The NWLF's name also has appeared on death threats against newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst and bomb threats against San Francisco apartment owners who were labeled "slumlords."

Miss Lougher said the latest attack on PG&E is the terrorist group's response to the utility's failure to meet previous demands.

The NWLF has demanded that PG&E pay 50 per cent of the cost of bringing slum housing in San Francisco up to building codes. It also has demanded that the company provide free utility service to the unemployed and those over 65 forced to live on fixed incomes.

Americans Feel Good On Holiday

By SAUL PETT
AP Special Correspondent

It turned out to be a big, warm surprise party. We surprised ourselves.

There was a disposition, a hunger, to feel good. Not just well, but good. We felt good.

At long last, the grim clichés of more than a decade — "The American malaise," "The sick society" — were scarcely heard in the land, praise God.

There were, here and there, voices of protest and gloom and guilt, but they were easy to turn off or tune out this day. Can you forgive us, Jane Fonda? Were the blacks less reproachful, the Indians less militant? It would seem so.

ROUNDTOWN

MERCHANTS, and bankers should not accept payroll checks made out by the 84 Lumber Co., according to Circleville Police Sgt. Larry Pontious.

The checks are being counterfeited.

Although none of the checks have surfaced in the Circleville area, "Columbus is being flooded with them," he said.

Merchants or bankers asked to cash the payroll checks should notify police immediately.

Bona fide employees of the 84 Lumber Co. have made arrangements to cash their checks at the company or at banks where they are known.

Even the increasingly assertive American Woman appeared to pause in her march for harmony and seemed less disposed to unsettle the American Male. Can you forgive them, Floria Steinem?

In all the land, there seemed to be a kind of a truce in fights and causes. Even the critical young seemed less critical. Nobody profaned the cathedral. And did you see all those young people jumping with joy at the Boston Pops concert led by that loveable American square, Arthur Fiedler? Imagine, if you can, American adolescents waving flags and dancing happily to "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

Somehow, after all the ballyhoo, we had feared someone would muck it up with the black headlines of violence or a torrent of bad taste born of commercial greed. But they didn't. As the tourist said at the pageant of Valley Forge, "It is history and darned if they ain't doing it right."

Darned if we didn't. In an apartment overlooking the Hudson River and the greatest splash of sail since Trafalgar, New Yorkers watched from boxed off terraces. Someone started singing and a contagion spread among people who could not see each other and from the whole glassy face of this soulless, modern building, from the individual warren pens of New Yorkers famous for not seeing or hearing or knowing each other, there came "God Bless America."

In the cloudbursts of wiggly flames that broke all around her, could you fail to look at the Statue of Liberty with the eyes of a frightened Russian immigrant or the heart of a boy from Iowa returning from a war that was won and was good to win?

The joy of the rockets red glare may not have given proof through the night that it would last. But for a moment, it was there, pure, spontaneous, undiluted, unashamed. Didn't it feel good feeling good?

Individually, this kind of eruption of elation has been known to happen to a city, as it did to Pittsburgh when the Pirates won the pennant, as it does to Centerville when the high school basketball team wins the state title, as it does to a research lab when the old man finally wins a Nobel.

But for a whole nation to blow its top short of a war ending is singular, indeed. What had we won this time but the renewal of self respect, even pride, in the perspective of 200 years?

We felt some of that when a freckled All-American boy named John Glenn orbited the earth. Some of it when Neil Armstrong walked on the moon.

In each case, the feeling soon faded. This one will go, too, but, one desperately hopes, not yet, not yet.

Commando Chief Buried With Honors

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel gives a hero's funeral today to American-born Lt. Col. Yonatan Netanyahu, the only Israeli commando killed in the rescue of more than 100 hostages held by Palestinian terrorists at Uganda's Entebbe Airport.

Two of the three Israeli civilians killed in the gun battle Saturday night were buried Monday with military honors. Speaking at one of the funerals, Israel's chief military chaplain, Brig. Mordechai Piron, said the 2,400-mile, three-plane commando raid "was a magnificent, courageous operation, but it is the fate of this nation that every joy and delight be mixed with pain and mourning."

Threats of retaliation from Palestinians in Lebanon and from Uganda's President Idi Amin did nothing to diminish the pride and rejoicing of the Israelis in their armed forces' most notable exploit since the defeat of the Arabs in the 1967 Six-Day War.

Border patrols were being especially vigilant, and Palestinian reprisal attacks on Israeli diplomatic and business establishments in foreign countries seemed likely. But with the Palestinians in Lebanon fighting for their existence in a civil war with Christian Lebanese and Syrian forces, no largescale raids across the border were expected.

Amin's threats aroused concern only because one of the Israeli passengers on the hijacked Air France airliner, 75-year-old Dora Bloch, was in a Kampala hospital when the commandos landed, and they could not bring her back. The Israeli government appealed to the International Red Cross and an unidentified third country to secure her release.

The Ugandan president, who reported that the Israeli commandos killed 20 of his troops and wounded 32, sent protests against the attack to the United Nations, the Organization of African Unity, the Arab League and other Third World countries. He also declared today and Wednesday days of mourning for the dead Ugandans.

The 48-nation OAU unanimously condemned the raid and said it would ask the U.N. Security Council to take up the matter.

Reagan Sets TV Talk

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan says he hopes his appearance on national television tonight will persuade uncommitted GOP delegates to vote for him.

"It's an important speech," the former California governor said Monday before taping the half-hour talk at a Hollywood studio.

He said President Ford's television exposure at Bicentennial events Sunday and Monday had nothing to do with his decision to present his nationwide message.

"We decided a long time ago to do this," Reagan said.

Carter Confers With Governors

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Jimmy Carter, who used to be a governor himself, conferred with 30 Democratic governors today on a campaign unity mission, and they're expected to endorse him as the virtually inevitable nominee for the White House.

Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss met with the governors Monday to work out terms of a proposed endorsement statement, then relayed word of the arrangement to Carter.

It's evident, however, that Carter still has some fences to mend with his former colleagues. While Carter emerged from the Georgia state house to win his virtual guarantee of the Democratic presidential nomination, he remains skeptical about some major programs championed by the governors.

Even as he met privately with the Democratic caucus, the National Governors' Conference was due to work out the terms of a call for welfare reform, to include a proposal that the federal government finance a guaranteed minimum income for all Americans.

Carter has opposed a federal takeover of welfare expenses as too costly. He does favor another feature of the proposal before the conference, a nationwide standard for welfare payments to eliminate current variations among the states.

He also has said that the federal revenue-sharing program, which the governors' conference pushed for years, should bypass the states with more money going to local governments.

Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, long critical of Carter, said the Democrats want to know more about his position on those and other points.

"I think that if he'd sit down with a number of the governors and tell us what his position is, it's going to be very difficult for anyone to misunderstand it or change it," said Mandel, who in the past has accused Carter of shifting positions.

Mandel was not ready to pledge that he would leave Hershey as a Carter supporter.

Given Carter's command of a nominating majority at the Democratic National Convention opening next Monday, neither Mandel nor any of the other Democrats has much choice. So Carter's overnight trip to Hershey seemed designed to seek enthusiasm among the conscripts. "We'll come out united behind Gov. Carter," said Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida, who earlier opposed him. "He's the choice of the American people and he's my choice."

The Republican governors were caucusing too, but there wasn't much politicking to be done there. Eleven of the 13 Republican governors were supporting President Ford; the other two were solidly committed to Ronald Reagan.

As a result, neither contender for the Republican nomination mounted a significant political operation at Hershey. The Ford administration's highest ranking representatives were subcommittee officers.

PALMA DE MAJORCA, Balearic Islands (AP) — A Libyan airliner hijacked on a flight within Libya today landed here with 86 persons aboard and the hijacker surrendered, airport sources said.

The hijacker, identified only as a man opposed to the Libyan regime of Col. Mommar Khadafy, gave up to airport police and turned over two toy pistols and two knives to the chief of the airport, the sources said.

They said nobody was injured and the passengers were being looked after by airport authorities.

Officials in Algiers said the hijacked Boeing 727 jetliner had landed previously at Boufarik air base, 20 miles south of Algiers, after being refused permission to land at the Tunis and Algiers airports. The base is the headquarters of the Algerian air force.

Algerian authorities said the plane stayed at Boufarik only about 10 minutes, then flew on to Palma de Majorca. There was no information on whether it refueled in Algeria.

The plane was hijacked on an early morning flight between Tripoli, the Libyan capital, and Benghazi, in eastern Libya. It was assumed that most or all of those aboard were Libyans.

The pilot tried first to land at Tunis airport, but Tunisian officials refused permission and barricaded the runways.

Tunisian officials said a man aboard the plane told the Tunis control tower he had taken over the aircraft and was a member of a Libyan underground movement called Vigilant Youth that is opposed to Khadafy's regime.

spirit and uncovered its pride and, at least for the moment, crowned America's good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.

It was as if the entire nation put aside its cares and sorrows and thought at last of its own best dreams.

"After two centuries there is still something wonderful about being an American," President Ford said, standing on Thomas Jefferson's front lawn at Monticello, and the nation answered, Amen.

"If we cannot quite express it," he said, "we know what it is. You know what it is or you would not be here."

And where were you? Americans have a way of remembering where they were at the precise moment of national trauma: Dec. 7, 1941; Nov. 22, 1963.

But in his lifetime with Thomas Gates, the American envoy in Peking, ever forget that on the Fourth of July in the year of Our Lord 1976 and the year of the Republic 200 he ate hot dogs with the members of his staff at a Ming Tomb in the world's largest Communist country?

the Washington Monument, ohing and ahing at the grandest fireworks display in history, forget that when it was over that huge crowd, that happy throng, spontaneously burst into "God Bless America"?

Commando Chief Buried With Honors

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel gives a hero's funeral today to American-born Lt. Col. Yonatan Netanyahu, the only Israeli commando killed in the rescue of more than 100 hostages held by Palestinian terrorists at Uganda's Entebbe Airport.

Two of the three Israeli civilians killed in the gun battle Saturday night were buried Monday with military honors. Speaking at one of the funerals, Israel's chief military chaplain, Brig. Mordechai Piron, said the 2,400-mile, three-plane commando raid "was a magnificent, courageous operation, but it is the fate of this nation that every joy and delight be mixed with pain and mourning."

Threats of retaliation from Palestinians in Lebanon and from Uganda's President Idi Amin did nothing to diminish the pride and rejoicing of the Israelis in their armed forces' most notable exploit since the defeat of the Arabs in the 1967 Six-Day War.

Border patrols were being especially vigilant, and Palestinian reprisal attacks on Israeli diplomatic and business establishments in foreign countries seemed likely. But with the Palestinians in Lebanon fighting for their existence in a civil war with Christian Lebanese and Syrian forces, no largescale raids across the border were expected.

Amin's threats aroused concern only because one of the Israeli passengers on the hijacked Air France airliner, 75-year-old Dora Bloch, was in a Kam-pala hospital when the commandos landed, and they could not bring her back. The Israeli government ap-

Evelyn Bastian, G. R. Yaple, Shannon Cavanaugh, and Charles Parrett all won Best of Show honors at the Ashville Fourth of July festivals' youth and adult art shows.

Show Judge Constance Schaeffer of Columbus liked the "innovative and original pieces of art." Those that received ribbons were "strong in color, composition, design and originality. Modern techniques and subject matter gave this show a professional look," she said.

There were 46 entries in the youth division, chaired by Louise Morrow and assisted by Maria Cook. Michelle Wilkinson, and Pam and Teresa Dennis provided hanging help.

Parrett of Circleville won Best of Show in Class A for grades 1 through 4.

Deputies Investigate 2 Weekend Injury Crashes

Four people were hurt in two injury accidents which occurred on Pickaway County highways during the July 4th holiday weekend.

Frank H. Jackson, 29, Route 1, Ashville, suffered a broken left arm in a single-vehicle crash 10:30 p.m. Saturday on Rector Road, a mile and half south of the Westfall-Kinderhook Road intersection.

Jackson, taken to Berger Hospital by the Circleville Emergency Medical Team, was later transferred to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Deputy R. L. Phillips said Jackson was driving north on Rector Road and entering a curve when he drove off the left side. The car hit an end post owned by Harold Shaw, Route 2, Circleville, and ran into and came to rest on top of a mail box owned by Joseph Cupp, 26240 Rector Road, Williamsport.

Jackson was partially ejected from the vehicle, the deputy said.

Elizabeth E. Stonerock, 27, 4845 Route 207, passenger in the car and its owner, was not hurt.

Jackson was charged with driving left of the center line.

Three people suffered minor injuries in a single-car accident 3:35 a.m. Sunday on Route 180 at the Route 56 intersection near Laurelville.

Driver of the car, William H. Barr, 17, Columbus, suffered minor lacerations and abrasions to his face; and passengers James Farley, 18, Columbus, and Douglas Thompson, 18, Columbus, suffered minor facial and arm injuries.

Another passenger, Ronnie Davis, 18, Columbus, was not hurt. The injured were treated at the scene of the accident by the Kingston Emergency Squad.

According to Deputy Sheriff Jim Dixon, Barr was driving north on Route 180 and approaching the Route 56 intersection when heavy fog obstructed his view of the stop sign.

The car skidded 115 feet through the intersection, hit and broke off a telephone pole five feet from the road, and continued through a fence owned by George Macklin, Route 1, Laurelville.

Barr was charged with driving an unsafe vehicle and driving through a stop sign.

About 250 bushels of shelled wheat were dumped onto Route 188 9:21 a.m. Monday when a grain trailer upset.

Kent A. Kraft, 20, 7708 Stoutsville Pike, told Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal that he was driving an International tractor and pulling two loaded grain trailers west on Route 188, two-tenths of a mile east of the Stout Road intersection.

A tie rod on the rear trailer apparently broke, forcing Kraft out of control for 234 feet. The trailer flipped over and the bed came off the frame. The wheat is valued at $825.

Dinners For Kids Violating Rules?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials have decided that public schools may no longer sponsor father-son or mother-daughter events because they violate new rules against sex discrimination.

That's the word quietly passed to school administrators in Scottsdale, Ariz., last week, more than five months after the officials asked if such activities were still lawful under regulations approved by President Ford last summer.

In a letter cleared through Washington channels, John E. Palomina of the San Francisco regional Office for Civil Rights wrote to the officials telling them that "functions such as father-son or mother-daughter breakfasts would be subjecting students to separate treatment and would not be permitted."

And that decision applies, said a spokesman at Washington headquarters, even if the school offers separate events with equal facilities for both sexes.

Though no public announcement has been made on the issue, the spokesman said the Palomina letter represented a policy ruling that had been approved by rights office director Peter E. Holmes.

The Palomina letter, dated June 25 and addressed to Dr. Ira King of the Scottsdale school system, declared, "If the purposes of such functions is to enhance community relations as your letter (of last February) states, (they) would be just as effective if they were student-parent affairs."

"Such an arrangement would prevent a situation which would exclude a male student, for example, who does not have a father to accompany him to a father-son affair."

The Office for Civil Rights, part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, drafted the new regulations last year to implement the Title IX statute passed by Congress in 1972. The rules have stirred controversy on several fronts, but particularly in the area of athletic activities.

Anticipating the federal ruling on father-son and mother-daughter events, Arizona Public Instruction Supt. Carolyn Warner cracked two weeks ago, "I suspect someone from the Land of Oz is going to say some day that celebrating Fathers Day and Mothers Day separately violates equal rights. And the 13th of June is Children's Day. Isn't that discriminatory?"

The funeral service will be 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Defenbaugh-Wise Funeral Home with the Rev. Father Frank Meagher officiating. Burial will be at St. Joseph's Cemetery, Columbus.

Friends may call at the funeral home today.

MR. ROYAL V. HAMMAN
Mr. Royal V. Hamman, 87, Route 1, Williamsport, died 6:45 p.m. Friday at his residence.

Born May 19, 1889 in Ross County, he was the son of George W. and Emma Valley Hamman.

He was a farmer and had lived most of his life in Williamsport.

He was a veteran of the Rainbow Division of World War I, a 50-year member of the Heber Lodge of Williamsport, 50-year member of Scottish Rite and Aladdin temple Shrine of Columbus, member of the United States Trotting Association, former member and past president of Perry Twp. School Board and a past director of the First National Bank of Circleville and Williamsport.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Doris Fredrick Hamman, in 1965 and also by a brother and sister.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Roger (Markie) May of Circleville; Mrs. Timothy (Patricia) Moore of Columbus; two sons, James Hamman of Williamsport; John Hamman, West Carrollton; 17 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Services were held 1:30 p.m. today in Browns Chapel Church, Clarksburg, with the Rev. Michael Wright officiating. Burial was in the Browns Chapel Cemetery under the direction of the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home of New Holland.

The family request that contributions be made to the American Cancer Society.

MR. NORMAN MacNEIL
Mr. Norman MacNeil, age 73, 210 Walnut Creek Pike, died Monday morning at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by the Mader Funeral Home.

Funeral service will be 10:30 a.m. today in Browns Chapel Church, Clarksburg, with the Rev. Michael Wright officiating. Burial was in the Browns Chapel Cemetery under the direction of the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home of New Holland.

The family request that contributions be made to the American Cancer Society.

Deputies Investigate 2 Weekend Injury Crashes

Four people were hurt in two injury accidents which occurred on Pickaway County highways during the July 4th holiday weekend.

Frank H. Jackson, 29, Route 1, Ashville, suffered a broken left arm in a single-vehicle crash 10:30 p.m. Saturday on Rector Road, a mile and half south of the Westfall-Kinderhook Road intersection.

Jackson, taken to Berger Hospital by the Circleville Emergency Medical Team, was later transferred to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Deputy R. L. Phillips said Jackson was driving north on Rector Road and entering a curve when he drove off the left side. The car hit an end post owned by Harold Shaw, Route 2, Circleville, and ran into and came to rest on top of a mail box owned by Joseph Cupp, 26240 Rector Road, Williamsport.

Jackson was partially ejected from the vehicle, the deputy said.

Elizabeth E. Stonerock, 27, 4845 Route 207, passenger in the car and its owner, was not hurt.

Three people suffered minor injuries in a single-car accident 3:35 a.m. Sunday on Route 180 at the Route 56 intersection near Laurelville.

Driver of the car, William H. Barr, 17, Columbus, suffered minor lacerations and abrasions to his face; and passengers James Farley, 18, Columbus, and Douglas Thompson, 18, Columbus, suffered minor facial and arm injuries.

Another passenger, Ronnie Davis, 18, Columbus, was not hurt. The injured were treated at the scene of the accident by the Kingston Emergency Squad.

According to Deputy Sheriff Jim Dixon, Barr was driving north on Route 180 and approaching the Route 56 intersection when heavy fog obstructed his view of the stop sign.

The car skidded 115 feet through the intersection, hit and broke off a telephone pole five feet from the road, and continued through a fence owned by George Macklin, Route 1, Laurelville.

Barr was charged with driving an unsafe vehicle and driving through a stop sign.

About 250 bushels of shelled wheat were dumped onto Route 188 9:21 a.m. Monday when a grain trailer upset.

Kent A. Kraft, 20, 7708 Stoutsville Pike, told Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal that he was driving an International tractor and pulling two loaded grain trailers west on Route 188, two-tenths of a mile east of the Stout Road intersection.

A tie rod on the rear trailer apparently broke, forcing Kraft out of control for 234 feet. The trailer flipped over and the bed came off the frame.

The wheat is valued at $825.

Bach Homestead Is Century Farm

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon R. Bach of R.R. 2, Circleville, Ohio received a Century Farm Citation. The Bach farm has been in the family since 1871. The farm was purchased by the grandfather, Leonard Bach, who was born in Wurtemberg, Germany and emigrated to this country in 1859. He landed in New York city July 4th. He married Caroline Trump in 1867. The farm was inherited later by the son Carl and Etta (McPherson) Bach. They had five sons—Edwin Bach Sr., the late George Pherson Bach of Circleville, B. DeWitt Bach of Columbus, the late Eugene Bach of Washington C. H. and Harmon of Rt. 2. Harmon and Myrtle (Shook) Bach bought the homestead in 1957 and named it Carletta V Farm after Carl and Etta Bach and the five sons. Mr. and Mrs. Bach have two daughters, Mrs. Max (Miriam) McCandlish of Thornville and Mrs. Dale (Vonna) Mowery of Rt. 2.

A Page Of Opinion

Most Dangerous Place

Industrial safety campaigns have been emphasized for decades. Care around machinery, no smoking areas, adhesive strips on walkways to prevent slipping, fire extinguishers and other safety equipment strategically located — these and many other preventive measures are taken.

What of the home

environment? The record is disappointing. Cold statistics tell us twice as many people are killed in home accidents each year as in factories. In fact, the home is the prime location of accidents involving human injury.

Every eight seconds someone is injured in a household accident. Each 21 minutes someone is killed. As safety officials continue to point out, many of these accidents would never happen if the same precautions were taken in the home as in the factory.

It is sobering to learn that in one year — 1974 — more people died in home accidents than in the entire Revolutionary War. The cause they died for was carelessness.

Why Does A Teen Run Away?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Phyllis Battelle is on vacation. Today's guest columnist is Dr. Jim Oraker, staff psychologist at Dale House in Colorado Springs, a home for runaways operated by Young Life, a truly non-sectarian organization that communicates Jesus Christ's love to teenagers.

By DR. JIM ORAKER

Today's runaways aren't the Huck Finns of old who left home to seek their fortune or to enjoy adventure. Nor are they underprivileged and mostly male. Each week, more than 10,000 youngsters, mostly from comfortable homes, strike out by themselves. Runaways are getting younger — many are 18 or 14 — and they include many girls.

As the staff psychologist for Young Life, a nondenominational Christian organization that works with high school teens, I am based at Dale House, a community for runaways, located in our headquarters city, Colorado Springs. Hundreds of young people have passed through Dale House and, in talking with them, we've learned a lot about what triggers a runaway crisis.

Basically, there are three types of kids who leave home: the runaway, the throwaway and the "just plain bored." Runaways have serious problems, often with their parents, and take off in an effort to escape. Throwaways are unfortunate teens whose parents reject them. Sometimes, in a misguided effort to bring peace into the household, parents even suggest that their children leave home.

The hardest group to help are those kids who are bored. These youngsters have no goals and just drift along. At Dale House, we find these drifters don't want our help and, usually, their stay with us is very short — two days or less.

The younger the runaway, the more likely it is that he or she won't even leave town. Thirteen- and 14-year-olds often seek a local "crash pad" or the home of a school friend to run to. Older teens are more likely to leave their home state and take to the road.

We see mainly 17- and 18-year-olds at Dale House and find this group generally receptive to counseling. At Young Life, there's never any coercion or religious hard sell and if a young person isn't interested in accepting Jesus, that's fine. We're still there to offer both friendship and a listening ear and often, it's just this sort of "no strings attached" acceptance that the teenager wants to find.

A great difference between the runaways of today and some years ago is the drug traffic on the streets. Inexperienced teens get into trouble this way — and fast. Frequently, the drug scene traps a child and, for many young girls, prostitution is another very unfortunate part of the cycle.

A bright spot is that approximately 70 per cent of all runaways return home spontaneously within two weeks. However, if your child disappears and you suspect he's run away, here are some things to do:

Call your community mental health center. They will tell you if anyone in your city works with runaways, whom to contact, etc.

If you know your child is aware of its existence, call the runaway hotline (800-621-4000). The hotline is a confidential service for runaways and refers kids to the nearest resource center either for guidance or a place to stay. If you think your youngster may have left a message for you, the hotline will pass it along if you call in. Call the police.

Governor Vetoes Free Lunch Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has vetoed as "a hollow promise" a bill that would provide free breakfasts and lunches to eligible needy pupils in public schools.

The governor asserted Friday the measure was not funded and said many schools would be unable to comply with its provisions. At the same time, Rhodes affixed his signature to four other measures, including one that makes faculty members at state universities eligible for a year of paid professional leave after seven years of teaching at the same institution.

Others, all of which have Oct. 1 effective dates, permit volunteer rescue vehicles to display flashing red lights, run stop signs, and exceed speed limits on emergency runs, allow cities to assess businesses in enclosed shopping malls for heating and cooling expenses, and require federal approval for annexation of military installations by municipal corporations.

Captain Promoted

CINCINNATI (AP) — Captain Ernest Wagner, 65, commander of the Delta Queen on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers since 1962, has been promoted to the rank of commodore by the Delta Queen Steamboat Co.

The promotion carries with it the command of the new Mississippi Queen which will go into overnight passenger service later this year.

Commodore Wagner will be in command of both ships, the only inland water overnight passenger boats in the United States.

Captain Gabriel Chengery, 28, Pittsburgh, Pa., mate and alternate master of the Delta Queen for two years, will replace Wagner on the older ship, the company said.

The new, all steel Mississippi Queen currently is undergoing shake down trials at Jeffersonville, Ind., and will make its first appearance at Cincinnati July 25.

In a wild session that slipped at times into a melee of sharp jibes and general baffle, Circleville City Council voted to give councilman Boyd Horn more time to "think over" the so-called shopping center ordinance. Horn was apparently neutral on the proposed legislation that would rezone 10 acres of residential land north of Hargus Creek to clear the way for a shopping center, reportedly to house a Kroger supermarket.

City council also backed out of a proposal to "test" four-hours-for-a-dime parking meters on three city streets. It was designed to study the effectiveness of the Route 23 bypass.

The Ohio Inspection Bureau, which determined fire insurance rates in Ohio's towns, began a survey of the municipal firefighting facilities in Circleville.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I work in a speech and hearing center as an undergraduate volunteer. For a long time I have wondered if tobacco can, in any way, harm the hearing mechanism. This was discussed the other day. No firm conclusion was arrived at.

Miss F. S., Pa.

Dear Miss S.:

Since the turn of the century there has been a great deal of speculation about the possible relationship between nicotine and damage to the highly sensitive inner ear mechanism.

Tiny hair cells, responsible for the transmission of sound to the brain, are located in the cochlea. This organ controls the transmission of sound.

It is well established that nicotine is a toxic substance. It is also well established that nicotine can narrow the blood vessels in all parts of the body, including those in the middle and inner ear.

Experimental studies in laboratory animals have shown very definite evidence of the toxic effect of tobacco and nicotine on the vascular structure responsible for good hearing.

Dizziness and noises in the head have also been attributed to tobacco and nicotine concentration in some instances. It has also been suggested that smoke alone, as a pollutant, can irritate the lining of the nose and the eustachian tube which leads from the back of the nose to the middle ear.

Non-smokers who are trapped in an area polluted by cigarette smoke may also be affected.

The evidence points to the fact that tobacco, undoubtedly, can have an adverse effect on the hearing mechanism.

Is ringworm contagious?

Mrs. G. F., Minn.

Dear Mrs. F.:

This condition is caused by a fungus and can be transmitted from one person to another. It is not nearly as communicable as viruses and bacteria. Yet precautions should be taken to avoid using the towels or other personal effects of someone who is known to have ringworm.

Are there any dangers to dyeing the hair?

Mrs. T. U., N.J.

Dear Mrs. U.:

Hair dyes are chemicals and can be irritating to a highly allergic or sensitive skin. In most establishments the process of dyeing is performed by people who have had a great deal of experience with specific dyes. They almost always test the skin of the scalp of a new client to determine possible sensitivity.

Jobless Figures May Become Top Campaign Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment has thrust itself onto center stage as a potential major issue in the 1976 election campaign, giving Democrats a timely issue for their national convention in New York City later this month.

The increase in the nation's jobless rate to 7.5 per cent in June, up from 7.3 per cent in May, was unlucky timing for President Ford, who until now has had the unemployment issue going mostly his way — down.

As recently as Monday, he was in Puerto Rico to endorse a pledge by the leaders of seven major industrial nations to follow moderate economic policies to reduce unemployment without bringing on new inflation.

But the June trend, if it continues through the summer, may call into question those policies and raise a clamor for new government spending to create public service jobs.

Ford currently has on his desk a $4-billion public works jobs bill approved by Congress. Some of his advisers are recommending he veto it, as he did an earlier jobs bill.

Some administration spokesmen tried to explain away the June increase in unemployment after it was announced by the Labor Department Friday. Hard to overlook, however, was that it was only the second increase in the past year and the biggest monthly rise since the depths of the recession.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen called it "A statistical uptick" and Burton G. Malkiel of the President's Council of Economic Advisers blamed it on a faulty seasonal adjustment procedure in the Labor Department's figures.

But Labor Department analysts refused to concede any error in their statistics which showed 180,000 more Americans unemployed in June than in May for a total of 7.1 million, while the number of employed declined by 200,000 to 87.5 million.

Hemingway's Creek

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — An effort is under way to save Idaho's Silver Creek, a favorite trout stream of author Ernest Hemingway.

Under the auspices of a new land conservation program, The American Land Trust, a corporate grant of $100,000 has been made toward the protection and preservation of this fishing and wildlife area 25 miles southeast of Sun Valley.

The American Land Trust is an organization of national leaders in conservation, business and civic affairs.

The first history of Ohio was published by Caleb Atwater of Circleville in 1838.

The salary of the Ohio governor in 1803 was $900 annually, the same as the judge of the Supreme Court. Legislators got $2 per day plus travel expenses of $2 for each 25 miles traveled.

A Page Of Opinion

Most Dangerous Place

Industrial safety campaigns have been emphasized for decades. Care around machinery, no smoking areas, adhesive strips on walkways to prevent slipping, fire extinguishers and other safety equipment strategically located — these and many other preventive measures are taken.

What of the home

environment? The record is disappointing. Cold statistics tell us twice as many people are killed in home accidents each year as in factories. In fact, the home is the prime location of accidents involving human injury.

Every eight seconds someone is injured in a household accident. Each 21 minutes someone is killed. As safety officials continue to point out, many of these accidents would never happen if the same precautions were taken in the home as in the factory.

It is sobering to learn that in one year — 1974 — more people died in home accidents than in the entire Revolutionary War. The cause they died for was carelessness.

Why Does A Teen Run Away?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Phyllis Battelle is on vacation. Today's guest columnist is Dr. Jim Oraker, staff psychologist at Dale House in Colorado Springs, a home for runaways operated by Young Life, a truly non-sectarian organization that communicates Jesus Christ's love to teenagers.

By DR. JIM ORAKER

Today's runaways aren't the Huck Finns of old who left home to seek their fortune or to enjoy adventure. Nor are they underprivileged and mostly male. Each week, more than 10,000 youngsters, mostly from comfortable homes, strike out by themselves. Runaways are getting younger — many are 18 or 14 — and they include many girls.

As the staff psychologist for Young Life, a nondenominational Christian organization that works with high school teens, I am based at Dale House, a community for runaways, located in our headquarters city, Colorado Springs. Hundreds of young people have passed through Dale House and, in talking with them, we've learned a lot about what triggers a runaway crisis.

Basically, there are three types of kids who leave home: the runaway, the throwaway and the "just plain bored." Runaways have serious problems, often with their parents, and take off in an effort to escape. Throwaways are unfortunate teens whose parents reject them. Sometimes, in a misguided effort to bring peace into the household, parents even suggest that their children leave home.

The hardest group to help are those kids who are bored. These youngsters have no goals and just drift along. At Dale House, we find these drifters don't want our help and, usually, their stay with us is very short — two days or less.

The younger the runaway, the more likely it is that he or she won't even leave town. Thirteen- and 14-year-olds often seek a local "crash pad" or the home of a school friend to run to. Older teens are more likely to leave their home state and take to the road.

We see mainly 17- and 18-year-olds at Dale House and find this group generally receptive to counseling. At Young Life, there's never any coercion or religious hard sell and if a young person isn't interested in accepting Jesus, that's fine. We're still there to offer both friendship and a listening ear and often, it's just this sort of "no strings attached" acceptance that the teenager wants to find.

A great difference between the runaways of today and some years ago is the drug traffic on the streets. Inexperienced teens get into trouble this way — and fast. Frequently, the drug scene traps a child and, for many young girls, prostitution is another very unfortunate part of the cycle.

A bright spot is that approximately 70 per cent of all runaways return home spontaneously within two weeks. However, if your child disappears and you suspect he's run away, here are some things to do:

Call your community mental health center. They will tell you if anyone in your city works with runaways, whom to contact, etc.

If you know your child is aware of its existence, call the runaway hotline (800-621-4000). The hotline is a confidential service for runaways and refers kids to the nearest resource center either for guidance or a place to stay. If you think your youngster may have left a message for you, the hotline will pass it along if you call in.

Call the police.

There are a number of early warning signs before a teen actually runs away. He or she may become less communicative or spend more time alone; usually schoolwork declines; often a new group of associates surfaces.

Governor Vetoes Free Lunch Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has vetoed as "a hollow promise" a bill that would provide free breakfasts and lunches to eligible needy pupils in public schools.

The governor asserted Friday the measure was not funded and said many schools would be unable to comply with its provisions.

At the same time, Rhodes affixed his signature to four other measures, including one that makes faculty members at state universities eligible for a year of paid professional leave after seven years of teaching at the same institution.

Captain Promoted

CINCINNATI (AP) — Captain Ernest Wagner, 65, commander of the Delta Queen on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers since 1962, has been promoted to the rank of commodore by the Delta Queen Steamboat Co.

The promotion carries with it the command of the new Mississippi Queen which will go into overnight passenger service later this year.

Commodore Wagner will be in command of both ships, the only inland water overnight passenger boats in the United States.

Captain Gabriel Chengery, 28, Pittsburgh, Pa., mate and alternate master of the Delta Queen for two years, will replace Wagner on the older ship, the company said.

The new, all steel Mississippi Queen currently is undergoing shake down trials at Jeffersonville, Ind., and will make its first appearance at Cincinnati July 25.

The latter measure is designed to end a legal hassle among municipalities seeking to annex all or portions of Wright Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton.

In vetoing the school food bill, Rhodes noted there are 146 school buildings in Ohio which lack kitchen facilities and would be unable to meet the free food requirement. He said the cost of installing kitchens would be from $25,000 to $50,000 each.

The governor also said that since the legislation requires state funds to obtain available federal funds, there would be added costs to local school districts. The cost this year would have been $186,000 if only half of Ohio's school districts had participated in such a program, he added in his veto message.

"Now is not too soon," Rhodes said, for the legislature to realize that the school districts "do not have a bottomless well from which money gushes to pay for the good intentions of the General Assembly."

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

Last week we published an article explaining the needs of Ruby Gillian of Ashville. We received contact from an anonymous person who wanted to pay the bank loan for Mrs. Gillian. Since that time we have received verification the loan has been paid. We want to publicly thank our anonymous donor. This proves once again what great people we have in Pickaway County. They really care for their fellowmen. We received other concerned phone calls and offers in the situation. Thanks to these people also.

At this time we want to express our appreciation to the Circleville Herald and WNRE for their cooperation. Also, Lindseys Bake Shop for their beautiful birthday cake for Mrs. Gillian. A special thank you to the Easter Seal Society for the new wheel chair for Ruby.

In our work we need to contact other agencies, churches, doctors, attorneys, the hospital, nursing homes and many individuals and organizations. Since we have had our Supporting services program we have received very wonderful cooperation from these contacts.

The Herald has always so graciously given room for our reports to the people. We do not expressly wish any personal publicity. We want people to know our program is available. We make every effort to assist with all needs of the elderly, especially the shut-ins. These needs are varied with each person. Perhaps we aren't able to completely alleviate all problems but we try to minimize them with our services.

We welcome all calls and contacts from the residents of Pickaway County.

Woman Hurt Chasing Cows From Garden

Mrs. Margaret Donaldson, 8846 Zane Trail Road, attacked while attempting to herd cattle from her garden, was treated at Berger Hospital for a broken right rib and other injuries.

The incident occurred shortly after 10 p.m. Sunday, according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Jim Fite.

Mrs. Donaldson and her husband, Harold, were attempting to round-up stray cattle which had invaded their garden when one of the animals attacked her. She was also treated for chest pains at the emergency room.

Deputy Fite and neighbors succeeded in herding the 15 head of cattle down the Zane Trail Road to the home of their owner, Richard Huggins, 8511 Zane Trail Road.

Deputies are also searching for a 1970 Ford LTD which was apparently stolen along Route 23 between Circleville and Chillicothe.

Jack L. Roy, Albans, W. Va., owner of the car, told deputies that his son, Jeffrey, was driving the vehicle to Cleveland from Charleston, W. Va., when it became disabled about 8 a.m. July 2.

The vehicle was discovered missing when the older Roy attempted to pick it up 2 p.m. Monday.

The yellow four-door sedan is valued at $1,200.

Thieves Enter Trucking Co.

Thieves broke into the Columbus Trucking Co. office, located at the rear of 811 S. Pickaway St., according to Circleville Police.

Entry to the building was gained through a window. The incident occurred Friday or Saturday, according to the report.

Sockets and wrenches were taken, police said.

Thieves took a Silver Tone six-string electric guitar and Silver Tone amplifier from the 369 Corwin St. home of James Pence.

The outfit is valued at $200.

Police could find no signs of forced entry into the house. The incident occurred Sunday between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

High pressure continues its hold over the state and is expected to give Ohio mostly fair skies through Wednesday with highs in the 80s and lows in the 60s.

Somewhat unstable air passing over the state this afternoon and tonight was expected to touch off a few scattered showers and thundershowers late this afternoon and this evening.

Fog cut visibility in many spots along the Ohio River this morning and travelers advisories were issued for the Cincinnati area. The rest of the state reported clear skies and mild temperatures.

Air Crash Fatal To 5

COLUMBUS, Ind. (AP) — Two planes owned by Allied Fidelity Insurance Co. collided in the air and crashed into a field south of here, killing two executives of the firm and three women.

The accident happened Monday afternoon, shortly after the planes took off from Seymour's Freeman Airport where one of them had participated in a three-day air show.

State police identified the dead as William Roe, 38, of New Castle, the company president; Arnold G. Jackson, 38, of New Castle, the company vice-president; Bonnie L. Newby, 24, of Indianapolis; Conna Dalton, 27, Rt. 1, Westfield, and Nena Nash, 19, Indianapolis.

A witness to the mishap, Don Quillan of Jonesville, said the planes appeared to be flying in formation when their wings "became entangled and the planes went straight down. They crumbled up like accordians."

Raisins May Take New Hue

WASHINGTON (AP) —Those chewy blue-black raisins kids like for snacks may be mostly greenish amber in color someday if a new process for making them turns out to be profitable for growers.

For centuries, raisins traditionally have been made by hand-picking ripe grapes and drying them naturally in the sun. But the Agriculture Department says this method is becoming so expensive that new ways are needed.

One method, first used in Australia in 1967, involves drying the grapes on the vine and then harvesting mechanically for further processing. To speed-up the vine drying, however, the grapes are sprayed with chemical solutions that help produce the greenish-amber hues.

A 24-page report on raisin production in California, where most are produced, says the greenish-amber varieties are also sweeter than the traditional kind, something some consumers apparently don't like.

Based on 1974 studies, the report said the dried-on-the-vine method would have been more costly than the traditional natural way and another experimental "continuous tray" method. But economists said future increases in labor costs or lower chemical costs might make vine drying practicable.

One of the authors of the report, Robert V. Enochian of USDA's research center at Albany, Calif., said in a telephone interview that the government has been helping finance the studies on raisin production for about four years, including research grants totaling about $100,000. He said there are about 5,000 raisin producers in California.

Woman Hurt Chasing Cows From Garden

Mrs. Margaret Donaldson, 8846 Zane Trail Road, attacked while attempting to herd cattle from her garden, was treated at Berger Hospital for a broken right rib and other injuries.

The incident occurred shortly after 10 p.m. Sunday, according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Jim Fite.

Mrs. Donaldson and her husband, Harold, were attempting to round-up stray cattle which had invaded their garden when one of the animals attacked her. She was also treated for chest pains at the emergency room. Deputy Fite and neighbors succeeded in herding the 15 head of cattle down the Zane Trail Road to the home of their owner, Richard Huggins, 8511 Zane Trail Road.

Deputies are also searching for a 1970 Ford LTD which was apparently stolen along Route 23 between Circleville and Chillicothe.

Jack L. Roy, Albans, W. Va., owner of the car, told deputies that his son, Jeffrey, was driving the vehicle to Cleveland from Charleston, W. Va., when it became disabled about 8 a.m. July 2.

The vehicle was discovered missing when the older Roy attempted to pick it up 2 p.m. Monday. The yellow four-door sedan is valued at $1,200.

Thieves Enter Trucking Co.

Thieves broke into the Columbus Trucking Co. office, located at the rear of 811 S. Pickaway St., according to Circleville Police.

Entry to the building was gained through a window. The incident occurred Friday or Saturday, according to the report.

Sockets and wrenches were taken, police said.

Thieves took a Silver Tone six-string electric guitar and Silver Tone amplifier from the 369 Corwin St. home of James Pence.

The outfit is valued at $200. Police could find no signs of forced entry into the house. The incident occurred Sunday between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Derby Garden Club Reviews Plans For 1976 Homecoming

Derby Garden Club 1975 Flower Show Program Reviewed the Derby Garden Club Flower Show Program for the 1976 Derby Homecoming was reviewed at the June 28 meeting of the club held at the Derby Methodist Church.

The theme of the show is "Congregate and Celebrate Our Birthday". It will be held Friday July 30 and Saturday July 31 in the Fellowship Hall of the Derby Methodist Church, Derby, Ohio. Mrs. Martha Bulter demonstrated how to prepare and exhibit specimens in the show schedule. She also suggested that any exhibitor consult the OAGC Exhibitors and Judges Handbook for help in growing and preparing specimens for competition.

Mrs. Freda McPherson gave her interpretation of some of the arrangement classes on the show program.

During the business meeting, Carolyn Ohenewehr announced that 15 bud vases and 4 arrangements had been made from flowers supplied by club members for an Open House June 6 at Cottage H-Orient State Institute as a civic contribution from the Derby Garden Club. Mrs. Shirley McPherson, and Mrs. Freda McPherson reported on the Council of Pickaway County Garden Club's meeting May 26 in Circleville. Mrs. Betty Caudill, Mrs. Freda McPherson and Mrs. Shirley McPherson entered the flower show. Various committee reports were heard. Tour committee chairman, Mrs. Ruth Fields, said that members would be notified about a tour to Owen Carpenter's rose gardens. President, Mrs. Lois Rouff, announced the officers for the 1976-1977 year will be: President, Mrs. Lois Rouff, Vice-president, Mrs. Phyllis Kohli; Secretary, Mrs. James Vance and Treasurer Mrs. Susan Furniss. Qualifications for Regional Outstanding Gardener Award were read. Mrs. Carolyn Ohenewehr and Mrs. Lois Rouff were nominated from the club.

The next meeting will be held Monday July 19. Members are to meet at the Derby Methodist Church at 6:30 p.m. to tour member's gardens. Mrs. Rose Kahler will serve as chairman. The group will return to the church later for a business meeting. Hostesses will be Mrs. Inez Peterson and Mrs. Shirley McPherson.

Man Sought In Shooting Death

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Wyandot County deputies were seeking a man for questioning in the shooting death of a rural Sycamore woman.

The body of Lavonne Huffman, 47, was found early Monday along a country road near her home south of Sycamore, the sheriff's office said. Deputies reported she had been shot several times.

Deputies would not identify the man sought for questioning.

LE CLASS OF '66 — Twenty-eight members of the Logan Elm High School class of 1966 and their spouses met June 12 at the L-K Restaurant Banquet Room for their 10-year class reunion. Roy (Shorty) Strawser acted as emcee for the occasion. Class President Don Schaal thanked committee members Mary Kreisel Tomlinson, Katie Wilson Schneider, Sharon Kneese Seyfang, Cindy Hildenbrand McConnaughey, Melanie Teets Rubin and Pam Parker Dill for the hours of preparation which went into contacting classmates, arranging the banquet, typing resumes and providing entertainment. Dean Poling provided decorations with a bicentennial theme using red, white and blue streamers, straw-flower arrangements and candles. The centerpieces were won as door prizes by Mary Tomlinson, Roy Strawser, Steve Burger, Pat Darst (for largest family) and Ann and Rick Rawlins (for traveling the greatest distance to attend the reunion). After enjoying a baked-steak dinner, those present were entertained by classmate Terry Farrell, Jr., a professional musician, who sang a number of songs from the 60's as well as many current hits. Katie and Marsha Schneider joined Ferrell in presenting several vocal selections. Donald Schaal was named chairman of the planning committee for the 1981 reunion, which will mark the third to be held at five-year intervals. A cookout was held following the reunion at the home of Harry and Melanie Teets Rubin. From the left are: Row 1, Melanie Teets Rubin, Cindy Hildenbrand McConnaughey, Judy Young Vavroch, Katie Wilson Schneider, Julianne Temple, Mary Kreisel Tomlinson, Ellen Whaley Starkey, Linda Murray Smith, Pam Parker Dill. Row 2, Carolyn Ream Wharton, Elaine Tatman Kapple, Susan Carpenter Reeser, Sandra Ramey Brown, Carol Delong Reichelderfer, Karen Fulks Richendollar, Marsha Gunder Schneider, Ann Perdion Rawlins, Rick Rawlins, Pat Darst. Row 3, Roy Strawser, Steve Burger, Daryl Reichelderfer, Terry Ferrell, Doug Huffines, Terry Darst, Donald Schaal, Gary Courtright, Dean Poling.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

In the year 1795 a court in South Carolina was handed a political hot potato. A local candidate, defeated for the town council, claimed that some of the votes against him had been miscounted. His proposal was simple:

Call the voters to the witness stand, put them under oath, and make them tell how they voted.

But after due deliberation the court said no. Forcing such a disclosure, said the court, would involve "a kind of inquisitorial power unknown to the principles of our government."

Ever since the nation's beginnings, the secrecy of the ballot has been recognized as our ultimate political safeguard. And, with minor exceptions, how a citizen marks his ballot continues to be — in the eyes of the law — no one's business but his own.

Secrecy applies not only to testimony in the courtroom but also to procedure in the voting booth. In another case, voters marked their ballots while standing shoulder to shoulder along an open wall. Anyone could peek.

But a court ruled later that this procedure was so vulnerable to corruption that the votes could not be counted.

Voting machines have reduced the possibility of connecting a specific ballot to a specific voter. But problems may still arise in absentee balloting.

One election official, upon receiving some absentee ballots, transferred them from the blank inner envelopes to the original outer envelopes — containing the voter's name and return address. Although no ulterior motive was proven, the ballots were rejected.

"Absentee voting would be largely useless," said the court, "if secrecy is not maintained. If outsiders may see how the individual voted, many voters will refrain from voting rather than run the risk of such a possibility."

Swine Flu Program Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state health department is readying to inoculate thousands of Ohioans in the national influenza immunization program.

Dr. John H. Ackerman, state health director, has instructed local health commissioners, nursing supervisors and medical societies to designate agencies in each county to act as administrator and to submit countywide plans for the flushot project by July 1.

President Ford proposed the program to vaccinate citizens against swine flu this fall after an outbreak of an unusual strain of flu in New Jersey.

The state health department will provide the counties with the vaccine to immunize both the high risk population and the remaining eligible population; jet-injection equipment, and needles and syringes.

The high risk group will be inoculated first, probably shortly after Labor Day. They include persons over 65 years old, and people of all ages with chronic diseases.

Most of the population will receive the vaccine using a high-speed injector gun that can inoculate up to 1,000 people per hour. The jet injectors will be distributed by the state health department on this schedule by county:

Adams, Sept. 20-24; Allen, Oct. 4-13; Ashland, Nov. 28-Dec. 6; Ashtabula, Sept. 13-22; Athens, Sept. 13-19; Auglaize, Sept. 27-Oct. 7; Belmont, Dec. 6-12; Brown, Sept. 19-22; Butler, Oct. 3-18; Carroll, Dec. 6-11; Champaign, Sept. 25-30; Clark, Sept. 25-Oct. 7; Clermont, Oct. 3-16; Clinton, Sept. 20-25; Columbiana, Sept. 13-21; Coshocton, Dec. 7-13; Crawford, Oct. 30-Nov. 8; Cuyahoga, Oct. 17-Dec. 3; Darke, Sept. 26-Oct. 3; Defiance, Oct. 14-21; Delaware, Oct. 13-21; Erie, Nov. 5-13; Fairfield, Sept. 22-Oct. 1; Fayette, Sept. 23-29; Franklin, Oct. 8-Nov. 17; Fulton, Oct. 22-28; Gallia, Sept. 13-17.

The state health department will provide the counties with the vaccine to immunize both the high risk population and the remaining eligible population; jet-injection equipment, and needles and syringes.

The high risk group will be inoculated first, probably shortly after Labor Day. They include persons over 65 years old, and people of all ages with chronic diseases.

Most of the population will receive the vaccine using a high-speed injector gun that can inoculate up to 1,000 people per hour. The jet injectors will be distributed by the state health department on this schedule by county:

Adams, Sept. 20-24; Allen, Oct. 4-13; Ashland, Nov. 28-Dec. 6; Ashtabula, Sept. 13-22; Athens, Sept. 13-19; Auglaize, Sept. 27-Oct. 7; Belmont, Dec. 6-12; Brown, Sept. 19-22; Butler, Oct. 3-18; Carroll, Dec. 6-11; Champaign, Sept. 25-30; Clark, Sept. 25-Oct. 7; Clermont, Oct. 3-16; Clinton, Sept. 20-25; Columbiana, Sept. 13-21; Coshocton, Dec. 7-13; Crawford, Oct. 30-Nov. 8; Cuyahoga, Oct. 17-Dec. 3; Darke, Sept. 26-Oct. 3; Defiance, Oct. 14-21; Delaware, Oct. 13-21; Erie, Nov. 5-13; Fairfield, Sept. 22-Oct. 1; Fayette, Sept. 23-29; Franklin, Oct. 8-Nov. 17; Fulton, Oct. 22-28; Gallia, Sept. 13-17; Geauga, Dec. 4-13; Greene, Sept. 23-Oct. 2; Guernsey, Dec. 6-11; Hamilton, Oct. 2-Nov. 11; Hancock, Oct. 19-25; Hardin, Oct. 1-7; Harrison, Dec. 6-10;

R&N Steele's Is Renowned For Fine Food, Service

R&N STEELE'S has been synonymous with fine foods and beverages for many years. It was formerly Tink's.

R&N Steele's, renowned for its fine foods, also caters private parties and receptions either in the spacious party room at the restaurant, in your own home, the building or hall of your choice.

R & N is an abbreviation of the owners' names, Robert and Nancy. They have owned the restaurant for over two years, and for ten years before that Bob Steele was the manager. The restaurant was known to Pickaway Countians for 26 years as Tink's.

Steele's is able to help plan and serve any catering needs — parties, wedding receptions and rehearsal dinners.

Whether the groups be from 10 to 250, Nancy can help plan to the smallest detail. As in the past, Steeles pride themselves in offering that which is not easy to find in today's business — and that is personalized service. "Our restaurant is especially noted for this and it will be carried on in Nancy's new venture," Bob states.

At the restaurant, prime rib is offered as a Wednesday special. Daily specials include roast beef and spaghetti with a meat sauce made especially by Nancy.

The restaurant features steak, lobster, pickerel and chicken just to name a few on the regular menu. Quite successful is the luncheon business which includes homemade soups and sandwiches offered along with the afore mentioned menu.

And for those who wish to have a beverage with their meal, they may select their favorite cocktail or wine.

The interior of the restaurant is decorated with green leather-vinyl along the lower half of the wall, with a dark brown tile to accentuate the low-lit getaway-from-it-all atmosphere.

The eating area is able to accommodate 150 people comfortably. The party room provides privacy for special banquets with room accommodating 70 people.

"The recessed bar, designed by Coburn Morgan of Columbus, is one of the more comfortable and better looking bars in this part of the country," quips Bob Steele. "And we serve some of the finest beverages in the area." Morgan has designed bars in the Wine Cellar and Kahiki.

Another bar, not as elaborate as the main bar but fitting for the need, is available in the party room, which makes it nicer for private parties.

Steele's employees approximately 11 people, not including the owners.

The restaurant is open daily, except Sunday and holidays, 11 a.m. to midnight and 4 p.m. to midnight Saturdays. The kitchen closes at 10:30 p.m. weekdays and midnight Friday and Saturday.

For good food and a relaxing atmosphere, stop at Steele's, soon.

RECESSED BAR AT R&N Steele's was designed by Coburn Moran of Columbus and is one of the most comfortable in this area of the state.

THE PARTY room at R&N Steele's is available for private parties, receptions, and Christmas parties. It is also the area where Steele's hold special events during the year, such as the New Year's Eve Party.

Butler Gives You a Choice!

FARMSTED II—Straight Wall

Butler Farmstead Buildings

There was a time when a farmer's choice of pre-fabricated farm buildings didn't include a low-priced, well-engineered, all-metal structure.

Then, in 1970, Butler gave farmers this choice with Farmstead I (pictured below) — a sturdy, durable, functional, attractive all-metal farm building, at prices competitive to pole barns.

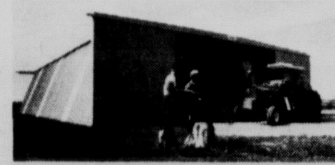

And farmers no longer had to pay for more or settle for less than they needed in a farm building.

Now, Butler offers you another choice — Farmstead II (pictured above). Farmstead II brings you most of the engineering advantages of Farmstead I, at just a few more dollars. Plus the benefits of straight wall construction, including large double slide doors in either or both side walls.

Options include a variety of color finishes, windows, walk-in doors, floor-to-ceiling Lite® Panels for plenty of natural daylight. All Farmstead buildings are available in a broad range of widths, heights and lengths — and all Farmsteads are adaptable to grain storage.

The choice is yours! Farmstead I — the "best seller" all-metal farm building — still offers a whole lot of building for a little less money than Farmstead II. Slope wall Farmstead I or straight wall Farmstead II, you can't go wrong. See us now for details.

Respiratory Therapy Department Set Up At Berger Hospital

In the past two decades there has been an alarming rise in lung disease in the United States. The period 1960-1969 witnessed an increase of more than 60 per cent in deaths due to lung cancer. This disease accounted for more than 80,000 deaths in 1974.

Deaths due to emphysema and chronic bronchitis number over 30,000 per year; these debilitating respiratory problems afflict 7,500,000 Americans — second only to coronary heart disease as a major public health problem in the United States.

Perhaps what is more startling is that respiratory disease was the diagnosis in almost four million hospital discharges in 1972. These alarming figures were among the major reasons Berger Hospital has reorganized the respiratory therapy department.

Respiratory therapy is an allied health specialty which assists the physician in diagnosing and treating all types of respiratory disease. The reorganized department at Berger Hospital is supervised by Judy Caetta. Mrs. Caetta will be leading a staff of four technicians.

The respiratory therapy department performs a number of sophisticated diagnostic procedures to help identify respiratory problems which can then be treated with a wide range of therapeutic techniques. In addition to helping to identify and then treating patients with breathing disorders the respiratory therapy department is involved in educating patients and the general public to help in the prevention of lung disease.

The department also offers a series of video-taped lectures to help the medical staff keep abreast of the latest techniques in respiratory care and other areas of medical practice. There are also video-tapes aimed at the nursing and technical staffs of the hospital.

By obtaining the best personnel, using the most modern equipment and techniques and by establishing an active educational program, Berger Hospital has established a first-rate respiratory therapy department to serve the needs of the community.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Medical Bills Are Like Car Payments

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote to say that her husband had gone to a doctor six years ago and had a complete physical examination. The doctor told him he needed an operation. She said her husband never had the operation and never went back, and he's never felt better in his life.

This reminds me of the following:
Doctor to Patient: "You're in bad shape. You should have an operation."
Patient: "How much will it cost?"
Doc: "Eight thousand dollars."
Patient: "Gee, Doc, you know I don't have that kind of money."

Doc: "I'll make it easy for you. Give me $3,000 down and pay me $100 a month until the bill is paid."

Patient: "That's just like buying a new car."

Doc: "I am."

NO DOPE IN N.J.
DEAR ABBY: I have put off writing to you long enough. I have fallen out of love with my husband. We've been married for eight years, we have two beautiful healthy children and a nice home. I don't have to work, I have a car of my own, and from all outside appearances I have it made.

My husband is a good father, is generous and is easy to live with and I know he loves me, but I am sick to death of faking it in the bedroom. I just don't feel a thing for him romantically. I respect him and I really like him, but he's more of a big brother than a husband.

I haven't told him how I feel because I just hate to hurt him. He's such a decent guy. He really deserves better than a wife who can't return his love. We talk about everything but this. Please help me.

TIRE OF ACTING
DEAR TIRE: Tell your husband that you and he should see a marriage counselor. Then do it. If you can't work through the problems that have made you more of a "sister" than a loving wife, level with him. You're right. He deserves better. And there's much more to marriage than you're getting.

DEAR ABBY: I have something to say to HISTORY BUFF who claims that a double-wedding ring ceremony has no meaning. According to him, his old German Bible (1888) says the wedding ring signifies that a woman is no longer a free and independent person, but she's in bondage to her husband. She owes him obedience as a subject owes obedience to his master.

Well, in MY book, a double-ring ceremony joins a man and woman together, in holy matrimony as equal.

So, HISTORY BUFF, stick it in your ear and blow it through your nose. For your information, I am only 12, and I plan to have a double-ring ceremony whether you like it or not!

In the 13th century, England's King John enjoyed hunting at Kingsclere, in Hampshire, forcing the inhabitants to feed and house him and his retinue each time he came. On one visit, he was badly bitten by harvest bugs and hastily departed. The grateful townspeople erected a weathervane in the shape of the six-legged insect, and it still tops the church there.

Now you can do your own decorating. Save money. Save time.

It's as easy as 1-2-3. Here is a smart new wallcovering collection called 1-2-3™ with 100 different colors and 37 coordinated fabrics designed to satisfy a wide range of decorating needs. Unmistakable elegance for your living rooms and dining rooms. Romantic florals for your bedroom, including a coordinated bedspread in four matching colors. Boldly stated geometrics and radiant colors for a contemporary look. A bountiful buffet of patterns to brighten up your kitchen.

1-2-3 vinyl wallcoverings are perfect for the bath because they are waterproof and wipe clean easily.

And 1-2-3 wallcovering is so simple to put up. It's pre-pasted so you can skip all that mess. Pre-trimmed for a neat, professional-looking job. All you have to do is follow the directions, as easy as 1-2-3.

Dear Abby:

Medical Bills Are Like Car Payments

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote to say that her husband had gone to a doctor six years ago and had a complete physical examination. The doctor told him he needed an operation. She said her husband never had the operation and never went back, and he's never felt better in his life.

This reminds me of the following:
 Doctor to Patient: "You're in bad shape. You should have an operation."
 Patient: "How much will it cost?"
 Doc: "Eight thousand dollars."
 Patient: "Gee, Doc, you know I don't have that kind of money."

Doc: "I'll make it easy for you. Give me $3,000 down and pay me $100 a month until the bill is paid."

Patient: "That's just like buying a new car."

Doc: "I am."

NO DOPE IN N.J.

DEAR ABBY: I have put off writing to you long enough. I have fallen out of love with my husband. We've been married for eight years, we have two beautiful healthy children and a nice home. I don't have to work, I have a car of my own, and from all outside appearances I have it made.

My husband is a good father, is generous and is easy to live with and I know he loves me, but I am sick to death of faking it in the bedroom. I just don't feel a thing for him romantically. I respect him and I really like him, but he's more of a big brother than a husband.

I haven't told him how I feel because I just hate to hurt him. He's such a decent guy. He really deserves better than a wife who can't return his love. We talk about everything but this. Please help me.

TIRED OF ACTING
 DEAR TIRED: Tell your husband that you and he should see a marriage counselor. Then do it. If you can't work through the problems that have made you more of a "sister" than a loving wife, level with him. You're right. He deserves better. And there's much more to marriage than you're getting.

DEAR ABBY: I have something to say to HISTORY BUFF who claims that a double-wedding ring ceremony has no meaning. According to him, his old German Bible (1888) says the wedding ring signifies that a woman is no longer a free and independent person, but she's in bondage to her husband. Respiratory Therapy Department Set Up At Berger Hospital

In the past two decades there has been an alarming rise in lung disease in the United States. The period 1960-1969 witnessed an increase of more than 60 per cent in deaths due to lung cancer. This disease accounted for more than 80,000 deaths in 1974.

Deaths due to emphysema and chronic bronchitis number over 30,000 per year; these debilitating respiratory problems afflict 7,500,000 Americans — second only to coronary heart disease as a major public health problem in the United States.

Perhaps what is more startling is that respiratory disease was the diagnosis in almost four million hospital discharges in 1972. These alarming figures were among the major reasons Berger Hospital has reorganized the respiratory therapy department.

Respiratory therapy is an allied health specialty which assists the physician in diagnosing and treating all types of respiratory disease. The reorganized department at Berger Hospital is supervised by Judy Caetta. Mrs. Caetta will be leading a staff of four technicians.

The respiratory therapy department performs a number of sophisticated diagnostic procedures to help identify respiratory problems which can then be treated with a wide range of therapeutic techniques. In addition to helping to identify and then treating patients with breathing disorders the respiratory therapy department is involved in educating patients and the general public to help in the prevention of lung disease.

The department also offers a series of video-taped lectures to help the medical staff keep abreast of the latest techniques in respiratory care and other areas of medical practice. There are also video-tapes aimed at the nursing and technical staffs of the hospital.

By obtaining the best personnel, using the most modern equipment and techniques and by establishing an active educational program, Berger Hospital has established a first-rate respiratory therapy department to serve the needs of the community.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

The unbroken pattern of rising foreign aid giveaways was continued this week with House approval of another multi-billion-dollar foreign aid appropriations bill.

Despite what seems to be fairly widespread opposition throughout this country to the funneling of hard-earned American tax dollars to foreign governments and markets, neither a Congress nor an Administration in a recent memory has been inclined to break this annoying habit.

Consequently, we have managed to justify in one way or another assistance to some 135 nations. From 1946 through 1976, American foreign aid has totaled well over $307 billion. That includes more than $122 billion as interest on what we have borrowed in order to make the massive giveaways possible.

The Fiscal Year 1977 foreign aid tab to be picked up by the taxpayers is almost $5 billion and is due, in large part, to the assorted promises made by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger during his travels through the Middle East and Africa. His "dollar diplomacy", like that of many of his predecessors has proven far too costly and ineffective to merit either justification or support.

I opposed this foreign aid appropriations bill, as I have others in the past. They provide a classic example of poor stewardship of public funds.

On its way to approving another large chunk of foreign aid, the House refused to reduce by 40 per cent the appropriation to the International Development Association. Like so many of our commitments to international agencies, we have provided 35 per cent of the overall contribution to that organization. I.D.A., in turn, has used 40 per cent of those resources for loans to India.

The Indian Government has produced a dismal record for helping that nation's poor, while it has squandered millions for nuclear development. India has moved from the world's largest democracy to a repressive state under the autocratic rule of Indira Gandhi.

Despite receiving $8 billion in American aid through the years, India has been a relentless critic of the United States and of late, has courted the favor of the Soviet Union.

One of the most serious consequences of our generous foreign aid program is a dramatic rise in foreign debt holdings. Between 1965 and 1975, these holdings jumped from over $16 billion to more than $66 billion.

Thus, we see a growing loss of disposable income involved within our national debt. More than 12 per cent of the debt is owned by foreign official institutions and citizens. In short, foreign countries are buying our debt, which certainly undermines the claims of congressional spenders that we owe our national debt to ourselves.

For example, we have given Germany $3.7 billion in aid, only to realize that today Germany owns the largest part of our national debt — to the tune of $20 billion. Other large beneficiaries of American aid, such as France and Japan, also own large portions of our federal debt.

Many of the world's nations have become industrial powers largely with American help and now conduct their financial affairs largely at our expense.

A most telling example of the dubious worth of our foreign aid program is the anti-American attitude of the Republic of Panama. Not only does the United States have a legitimate right, by treaty and otherwise, to the Panama Canal, she has also channeled almost $400 million in foreign aid to Panama.

In response to the American-engineered prosperity enjoyed by Panama today, that nation and its head of state have demanded ownership and control of the Canal and have threatened to render it useless if the United States fails to comply with its demands.

There is clear justification for Congress to put its foot down on the continuation of foreign giveaway programs. For the sake of our own economic well-being, it must soon summon the will to do so.

Air Traffic Controller Retired

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Aviation Administration air traffic controller involved in the near mid-air collision of two jumbo jets last year will not be disciplined and may be allowed to retire for medical reasons.

Drew Parker, 31, a ground controller at the Cleveland air traffic en route facility, has been on sick leave and leave without pay since the Nov. 26, 1975, near miss of an American Airlines DC-10 jetliner and a Trans World Airlines L-1011 aircraft.

A spokesman for the FAA said Parker has two options: retiring for medical reasons at 75 per cent of his former salary tax free or taking up to two years of training for another job in any other field. There will be no disciplinary action taken against Parker for his alleged role in the near collision no matter which option he selects.

The spokesman declined to specify the nature of Parker's medical condition.

Parker was on duty on the day the two planes, which carried a total of 306 passengers, passed within 100 feet of each other while under the direction on the Cleveland center.

The National Transportation Safety Board report on the incident found Parker noticed the two planes were on an apparent collision course but decided to wait and see if the problem solved itself instead of acting to change the course of one of the planes. He then became engrossed in other duties and failed to maintain close watch on the aircraft, the report said.

Nation Celebrates . . .

traditionally, some gaudily, but all gaily:

In San Francisco, where they rang cable car bells;

In Kokomo, Ind., where a lusty parade featured a big red tractor pulling a float with a 10-foot ear of corn;

In Los Angeles, the city of excesses, where a bunch of kids had the bright Bicentennial idea of concocting — why not? — a 30-foot-long banana split;

In Shreveport, La., where Mildred Walker Scopes, widow of the man whose contribution to America's history became known as the Monkey Trial, sat down to lunch at a table dressed out in red, white and blue clothes;

In Sun City, Ariz., where Lewis Singer laid out $4,500 to rig his house with all 50 state flags, plus a red, white and blue cattle trough in his front yard that shoots water 20 feet in the air;

In Promontory Point, Utah, where they built two mock railroad engines facing each other just as the real ones did that day of Manifest Destiny in 1869 when the golden spike was driven;

In New Orleans, where they unveiled a bronze statue to Louis Armstrong, that pioneer of America's own music form;

On Little Diomed Island, that tiny Alaskan outpost on the Bering Strait a scant three miles from Russia, where all 130 residents turned out for blanket tossing and other Eskimo diversions;

And in gussy Rexburg, Idaho, where on Monday, a month to the day after their town was nearly washed away by a flood, they borrowed enough floats from other towns to put on a parade. "We aren't so hurt that we can't show our love for our country," said Marion Forsyth, who lost his home and farmland.

Meanwhile, in the Old World...

England, which suffered a profound decline in the world's power structure while its impudent former colony rose to the top, was, as always, civil. It celebrated the American Bicentennial with more than 100 special events across the country, including fireworks, concerts, picnics, softball games, and a round of furious Frisbee.

Meanwhile, Queen Elizabeth, who occupies the throne the colonies broke away from 200 years before, was on her way to pay her respects to the aging upstart.

Official Russia was almost civil. President Nikolai Podgorny sent congratulations to President Ford. But Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, couldn't resist a dialectic zing: U.S. history, it said, shows the "suffering and difficulties that a society of class exploitation brings to many millions of working people."

But in the same Communist capital, dissident Soviet sources reported a poignant message from 14 Soviet political prisoners to the American people:

"Neither barbed wire, nor machine guns, nor watchtowers, nor guard dogs — nothing can prevent us...from being together with you on this great hour of world history."

Nation Celebrates . . .

traditionally, some gaudily, but all gaily:

In San Francisco, where they rang cable car bells;

In Kokomo, Ind., where a lusty parade featured a big red tractor pulling a float with a 10-foot ear of corn;

In Los Angeles, the city of excesses, where a bunch of kids had the bright Bicentennial idea of concocting — why not? — a 30-foot-long banana split;

In Shreveport, La., where Mildred Walker Scopes, widow of the man whose contribution to America's history became known as the Monkey Trial, sat down to lunch at a table dressed out in red, white and blue clothes;

In Sun City, Ariz., where Lewis Singer laid out $4,500 to rig his house with all 50 state flags, plus a red, white and blue cattle trough in his front yard that shoots water 20 feet in the air;

In Promontory Point, Utah, where they built two mock railroad engines facing each other just as the real ones did that day of Manifest Destiny in 1869 when the golden spike was driven;

In New Orleans, where they unveiled a bronze statue to Louis Armstrong, that pioneer of America's own music form;

On Little Diomed Island, that tiny Alaskan outpost on the Bering Strait a scant three miles from Russia, where all 130 residents turned out for blanket tossing and other Eskimo diversions;

And in gutsy Rexburg, Idaho, where on Monday, a month to the day after their town was nearly washed away by a flood, they borrowed enough floats from other towns to put on a parade. "We aren't so hurt that we can't show our love for our country," said Marion Forsyth, who lost his home and farmland.

Meanwhile, in the Old World... England, which suffered a profound decline in the world's power structure while its impudent former colony rose to the top, was, as always, civil. It celebrated the American Bicentennial with more than 100 special events across the country, including fireworks, concerts, picnics, softball games and a round of furious Frisbee. Meanwhile, Queen Elizabeth, who occupies the throne the colonies broke away from 200 years before, was on her way to pay her respects to the aging upstart.

Official Russia was almost civil. President Nikolai Podgorny sent congratulations to President Ford. But Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, couldn't resist a dialectic zing: U.S. history, it said, shows the "suffering and difficulties that a society of class exploitation brings to many millions of working people."

But in the same Communist capital, dissident Soviet sources reported a poignant message from 14 Soviet political prisoners to the American people:

"Neither barbed wire, nor machine guns, nor watchtowers, nor guard dogs — nothing can prevent us...from being together with you on this great hour of world history."

YMCA Notes, News

A special orientation meeting will be held 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, at the YMCA for anyone interested in scuba diving. A scuba diving course is being offered by the Pickaway County YMCA, at Ted Lewis pool, starting July 10 to Aug. 28.

Tom Urban, who holds National YMCA and P.A.D.I. Scuba Certifications, has 15 years diving experience and is a member of Pickaway County Sheriffs Water Rescue Team, will be the instructor and will host the meeting Wednesday to acquaint those interested with the excitement of underwater exploration.

According to Urban, "our earth is 75 per cent water, yet this great area remains virtually unexplored and unspoiled."

Urban continued that in order to become one of the few people to experience this world first hand, you must be a certified scuba diver. As a scuba diver, you can "fly through water" due to the weightlessness that buoyancy provides. He said that some of the visual pleasures include curious fish that eat out of your hand, delicate plant life; coral formations and artifacts.

He stated that for a photographer, diving offers exciting new subjects and effects. For a history buff, collecting artifacts and for a sportsman, spearfishing or collecting fish can be a challenge. For the practical minded, recovering lost equipment or "ballhawking" can earn some extra money.

Urban added that a person need not leave Ohio to find great places to dive. Ohio is part of the "middle coast," with many quarries, lakes, rivers and ponds and the Great Lakes offer exciting diving. He continued that weekend trips to dive sites in bordering states are common and even the prime diving in Florida is only 15 hours away by car. Several dive clubs in the area offer group trips throughout the year.

Anyone interested is invited to attend the meeting Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. at the YMCA for a slide presentation and film about scuba diving.

Rubber Talks Recessed

CLEVELAND (AP) — The federally-assisted negotiations in the ongoing rubber industry dispute have been indefinitely recessed. The strike will enter its eleventh week at midnight tonight.

In a statement made Tuesday morning around 1:30 a.m., Labor Secretary William J. Usery said he and the federal mediators would return to Washington later Tuesday.

United Rubber Workers international president Peter Bommarito said the union is still scheduled to meet with Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. at 2 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, but without federal mediators.

Regarding the marathon weekend negotiating sessions, Usery said, "We did make a lot of headway. But we haven't reached an agreement as of yet."

He added, "Progress was made both structurally and substantively."

Nab Escapees In Buffalo

BUFFALO (AP) — Buffalo Police say they have captured two convicts who walked away from a minimum security prison in North Carolina May 14.

The pair caroused and stole as they made their way from the prison to Ohio and Buffalo, then to Tennessee, Florida and back to Buffalo, police said.

Brian Eppl, 39, and Billy Capel, 37, both of Charlotte, N.C. were being held as fugitives from justice. Eppl was also charged with grand larceny and illegal possession of a credit card. They were scheduled to be arraigned Tuesday in Buffalo City Court.

They were captured after police received a tip from Capel's niece that the fugitives might visit her apartment.

The niece, Deborah Presley, 18, told police that the two men came to her apartment June 19. The two fugitives, Miss Presley and another woman went on a drunken spree that ended in Florida, police said she told them.

At the end of June the men dumped the woman in front of a bus terminal in Jacksonville, Fla. and told them to "hustle" some money, according to Miss Presley's statement.

The women went out another door, got bus fares from Travellers Aid Society and returned to Buffalo. Miss Presley went to Buffalo Police Sunday and told them she feared the men would return to her apartment.

Two plainclothes policemen who staked out the Presley apartment spotted Eppl and Capel Monday afternoon, police said. The men ran, but officers converging on the scene nabbed them, according to police.

Police said the trip to Florida was made in an automobile stolen from a Findley, Ohio man in early June. The car owner, David Corwin, was stabbed before his automobile and credit cards were stolen, according to police.

The credit cards were used to help finance the trip, police said.

Eppl had been sentenced to 10 years for larceny. Capel drew the same term for armed robbery. They walked away from a maintenance crew working outside the Rowan County Prison at Salisbury, N.C.

Pickaway Receives 1st Half Property Tax Rollback

A total of $8,029,024.34 in first half 1975 property tax rollback and homestead exemption reimbursements have been sent to five counties, State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office reported today.

The counties and the amounts they received for local tax revenue lost through the granting of 10 per cent property tax rollbacks to homeowners on their first half 1975 tax bills were:

Summit, $5,367,729.55; Hancock, $503,692.13; Pickaway, $272,809.46; Preble, $271,556.86; Jackson, $104,613.55.

Amounts the counties received for granting homestead exemptions to (and administering for) totally and permanently disabled and elderly homeowners in the first half of the 1975 were:

Summit, $1,229,194.98 ($24,583.90); Hancock, $100,655.85 ($2,013.12); Preble, $52,914.53 ($1,058.29); Jackson, $50,667.31 ($1,013.35); Pickaway, $45,609.28 ($912.18).

Each county received 2 per cent of the total dollar amount of homestead exemptions granted within the county for administering the homestead exemption program.

To date, 78 counties have received a total of $76,015,543.74 in property tax rollback reimbursements and $17,522,510.90 in homestead exemption and administration reimbursements on their first half 1975 tax bills, Ferguson said.

Ferguson said the other counties will be reimbursed by the state after they certify their tax settlements and property tax rollbacks to the State Auditor's office.

Property tax collections and rollback grants are based upon tax settlements of the previous year, Ferguson said. There are two settlements per year, each covering a six month period and funded entirely by the state income tax.

Semi-annual homestead exemption reimbursements, as provided for by state law in 1972, also are based upon the previous year's tax settlements, he added.

Homestead exemptions were restricted to homeowners, totally and permanently disabled or at least 65 years old, who made no more than $10,000 in 1975.

The exemption amounted to 70 per cent of taxable property value for incomes up to and including $2,000 the previous year, 60 per cent for incomes up to and including $4,000, 50 per cent for incomes up to and including $6,000 and 40 per cent for incomes up to and including $10,000.

Seek Mercy For American Mercenary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lawyer for Daniel Gearhart, the American mercenary sentenced to die in Angola, is hopeful the president of Angola will spare Gearhart's life.

"I am encouraged by the atmosphere in Angola as I left it," attorney Robert Cesner of Columbus, Ohio, told reporters at Dulles International Airport on Monday after flying from Angola via Paris.

Gearhart's wife, Sheila, met Cesner at the airport.

Gearhart, 34, and three British mercenaries were sentenced on June 28 to face a firing squad. A people's revolutionary tribunal also sentenced two other American and seven British mercenaries to prison terms of 16 to 30 years. No date was set for the executions.

Cesner said Gearhart's fate rests in the hands of Angolan President Agostinho Neto, who must confirm the sentences before they can be carried out. Cesner said he conferred with Angola's minister of justice, Diogenes Boavida, before leaving Angola.

"Mr. Boavida was very non-committal because he said the decision is entirely that of President Neto," Cesner said. But he noted that congressmen, individual Americans and organizations have sent letters and telegrams appealing for clemency for Gearhart.

"From my discussion with Mr. Boavida," he said, "my feeling is that President Neto is taking this into consideration very definitely."

Indians Don't Join Celebration

CINCINNATI (AP) — The celebrants turned out by land and water about 150,000 strong Monday as Cincinnati celebrated the Bicentennial, but at least five households did not join in the birthday festivities.

Police estimated 80,000 persons lined the streets for a parade from which motor vehicles were barred. Participants walked, marched or drove horses as they might have 200 years ago.

Another 60,000 spectators flocked to the banks of the Ohio River to watch an armada of 500 decorated boats, including some which reenacted the landing in 1793 of Cincinnati's first settler, Griffin Yeatman.

In other parks and Fountain Plaza downtown, kites were flown, frogs were jumped and water balloons hurled through the air.

Among those who declined to join in the merriment were descendants of the nation's first occupants.

"What should we celebrate?" demanded John Well-Off-Man, who works for the Newport, Ky. Community Action Commission. "For some people it has not been too bad, but for us, it's been 200 years of balance."

"They took the country and now look around at it. Every city is dirty, nature is dying, the country's not here anymore," said the Creek, a native of Montana.

"When the Indians met the boat they called the European 'brother,'" said Fran McClanahan, a Cherokee who lives in Fort Mitchell, Ky. "But 'brother' turned out to be very greedy."

Pete Witson, 84, of Batavia, Ohio,

said, "I think it's great that somebody came to this land that could develop it to its fullest, but we should not have been left out. We own it, we were here first."

Larry Gilpin is half Omaha, half Tonka. "They give us a few government programs, hand out a little welfare, and that's supposed to suffice for 200 years of oppression," he said.

Mrs. McClanahan, the official good will ambassador of the Cherokee nation, said, "The government sends money all over the world with no strings attached, but everything that's given to Indians ends up being wasted by all the bureaucracy."

"The Indian is coming out of his teepee. I believe 1977-78-79 will be his years."

"This is the time for the American Indian to take action, to come to the aid of his brother," said Richard Thunder-Sky, Cincinnati, a Mohawk. He believes every Indian deserves a $1,000 per month stipend from the federal government for renting the country although he said he would settle for less. He said isolation of Indians on reservations has made current generations unable to cope in the outside world.

"The Indian lives like a minnow in the branch of a pond. He is afraid to get washed into the middle."

City Board To Consider Vehicle Bids

Bids for a school bus and another vehicle will be considered Thursday night by the Circleville Board of Education when it meets in regular session.

Other items on the advanced agenda provided the board members by Superintendent Fritz Jacobs are the statement of removal, suspension and expulsion reasons as required by the Ohio Revised Code and the phasing out of certain high school activity accounts which are no longer needed.

Approval will also be given for the trash hauling and the milk contracts for the 1976-77 school year.

The board will act on five resignations and four employment recommendations and four requests from staff members to attend professional meetings.

Jacobs is also asking the board to expand the personal leave policy to cover all non-certificated employees as per recent legislation.

Blast Injures 3 Young Boys

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three suburban Sharonville, Ohio boys were injured, one seriously, when one of the youths struck a homemade rocket filled with gun powder with a hammer.

All three were hospitalized Monday following the basement explosion.

Thomas Salvano, 12, was seriously injured and underwent leg and abdominal surgery. He remained in the intensive care unit at Children's Hospital.

His brother, Joseph, 13 and a neighbor, Kenneth Gohs, 14, suffered multiple burns and cuts.

Witnesses said Thomas Salvano had just finished filling a plastic tube with the powder and struck the lid with a hammer to seal it. Officials said the hammering apparently caused the tube to explode.

Seek Mercy For American Mercenary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lawyer for Daniel Gearhart, the American mercenary sentenced to die in Angola, is hopeful the president of Angola will spare Gearhart's life.

"I am encouraged by the atmosphere in Angola as I left it," attorney Robert Cesner of Columbus, Ohio, told reporters at Dulles International Airport on Monday after flying from Angola via Paris.

Gearhart's wife, Sheila, met Cesner at the airport.

Gearhart, 34, and three British mercenaries were sentenced on June 28 to face a firing squad. A people's revolutionary tribunal also sentenced two other American and seven British mercenaries to prison terms of 16 to 30 years. No date was set for the executions.

Cesner said Gearhart's fate rests in the hands of Angolan President Agostinho Neto, who must confirm the sentences before they can be carried out. Cesner said he conferred with Angola's minister of justice, Diogenes Boavida, before leaving Angola.

"Mr. Boavida was very non-committal because he said the decision is entirely that of President Neto," Cesner said. But he noted that congressmen, individual Americans and organizations have sent letters and telegrams appealing for clemency for Gearhart.

"From my discussion with Mr. Boavida," he said, "my feeling is that President Neto is taking this into consideration very definitely."

Indians Don't Join Celebration

CINCINNATI (AP) — The celebrants turned out by land and water about 150,000 strong Monday as Cincinnati celebrated the Bicentennial, but at least five households did not join in the birthday festivities.

Police estimated 80,000 persons lined the streets for a parade from which motor vehicles were barred. Participants walked, marched or drove horses as they might have 200 years ago.

Another 60,000 spectators flocked to the banks of the Ohio River to watch an armada of 500 decorated boats, including some which reenacted the landing in 1793 of Cincinnati's first settler, Griffin Yeatman.

In other parks and Fountain Plaza downtown, kites were flown, frogs were jumped and water balloons hurled through the air.

Among those who declined to join in the merriment were descendants of the nation's first occupants.

"What should we celebrate?" demanded John Well-Off-Man, who works for the Newport, Ky. Community Action Commission. "For some people it has not been too bad, but for us, it's been 200 years of baloney."

"They took the country and now look around at it. Every city is dirty, nature is dying, the country's not here anymore," said the Creek, a native of Montana.

"When the Indians met the boat they called the European 'brother,'" said Fran McClanahan, a Cherokee who lives in Fort Mitchell, Ky. "But 'brother' turned out to be very greedy."

Blast Injures 3 Young Boys

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three suburban Sharonville, Ohio boys were injured, one seriously, when one of the youths struck a homemade rocket filled with gun powder with a hammer. All three were hospitalized Monday following the basement explosion.

Thomas Salvano, 12, was seriously injured and underwent leg and abdominal surgery. He remained in the intensive care unit at Children's Hospital.

His brother, Joseph, 13 and a neighbor, Kenneth Gohs, 14, suffered multiple burns and cuts.

Witnesses said Thomas Salvano had just finished filling a plastic tube with the powder and struck the lid with a hammer to seal it. Officials said the hammering apparently caused the tube to explode.

Traffic Toll Hits 474

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic deaths on the nation's highways during the Bicentennial weekend totaled 474, falling short of the prediction of the National Safety Council.

said, "I think it's great that somebody came to this land that could develop it to its fullest, but we should not have been left out. We own it, we were here first."

Larry Gilpin is half Omaha, half Tonka. "They give us a few government programs, hand out a little welfare, and that's supposed to suffice for 200 years of oppression," he said.

Mrs. McClanahan, the official good will ambassador of the Cherokee nation, said, "The government sends money all over the world with no strings attached, but everything that's given to Indians ends up being wasted by all the bureaucracy."

"The Indian is coming out of his teepee. I believe 1977-78-79 will be his years."

"This is the time for the American Indian to take action, to come to the aid of his brother," said Richard Thunder-Sky, Cincinnati, a Mohawk.

He believes every Indian deserves a $1,000 per month stipend from the federal government for renting the country although he said he would settle for less. He said isolation of Indians on reservations has made current generations unable to cope in the outside world.

"The Indian lives like a minnow in the branch of a pond. He is afraid to get washed into the middle."

Hot Reds Cool Off Montreal Expos

MONTREAL (AP) — If the Cincinnati Reds were a little redder than usual Monday night, it probably was embarrassment over the ease of their 11-2 conquest of the hapless Montreal Expos.

The Expos, whose won-lost record dropped to 25-46, worst in the majors, were hopelessly out of the running early against the defending world champions.

Cincinnati second baseman Joe Morgan, playing with eight stitches in his side after a recent spiking, belted his second career grand slam home run and a sacrifice fly to drive in five runs, earning a standing ovation from 14,331 fans eager to cheer anybody or anything.

"It's always great to get an ovation any place," said Morgan, the 1975 most valuable player who was taken out of the game in the late innings and who appeared bored by the time it was over.

"I've had some good games here in the past and they've given me ovations. It's happening in a few other places too, lately."

Doug Flynn drove in two runs with his first homer of the year, off Chip Lang, 1-1, the first of five pitchers used by Expos Manager Karl Kuehl.

Cincinnati skipper Sparky Anderson substituted liberally as the count mounted but took pains to catch himself before admitting he didn't want his club to humiliate the Expos too badly. The Expos are in their eighth year of playing expansion baseball.

"We were pretty far out in front," said Anderson. "Well, that is, I wanted to give the guys on the bench playing time because they need the chance. Actually, everybody on our club has played a lot this year because of all the injuries we've had."

Jack Billingham went all the way for the Reds, evening his record at 6-6 with a breezy eight-hitter. He walked two and struck out six.

"There were a couple of innings where they had a couple of men on, but I got out of it okay," Billingham said. In fact, his memory failed him, because the Expos had two baserunners aboard at the same time only in the eighth inning.

"They had a couple of home runs, but they were solos and over quickly," Billingham said.

Pete Mackanin, leading off the fifth, and Andre Thornton, up first in the seventh, hit homers for Montreal, but that was not enough for the Expos. Burt Hooton's supernatural hold on the Philadelphia Phillies would seem to be a witch doctor's delight, but Dave Cash has a very earthly explanation for it.

"The big secret is his ability to stay ahead on the count against us," says the Phillies' second baseman.

Keeping one pitch — and one step — ahead of Philadelphia has been Hooton's forte. The Los Angeles Dodger right-hander has beaten the Phillies seven straight times since 1974 — including Monday night's 6-0 beauty.

Hooton, who once pitched a no-hitter against the Phillies while a member of the Chicago Cubs, allowed merely a single and double Monday night — both to Garry Maddox.

The performance embarrassed the Phillies before a crowd of 60,942 at Veterans Stadium — the largest ever to see them at home — and a national television audience.

"I guess he figures he can do it everytime he goes out there against us," said a resigned Cash.

In the other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds routed the Montreal Expos 11-2; the Atlanta Braves stopped the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-6; the Chicago Cubs nipped the San Diego Padres 1-0; the San Francisco Giants outscored the St. Louis Cardinals 6-4 and the Houston Astros checked the New York Mets 7-3.

Hooton, who earned his sixth victory and first since June 9, when he beat the Phillies in Los Angeles, got hitting support from Steve Garvey and Bill Russell, each with a solo homer. Russell also singled home the Dodgers' third run.

Los Angeles took a 1-0 lead against Jim Lonborg, the Phillies 10-game winner who suffered his fifth loss. With two out in the first inning, Garvey hit his seventh homer of the season. In the second, Russell led off with a home run, his fourth of 1976. The Dodgers made it 3-0 in the fourth when Reggie Smith blasted a one-out triple and raced home on Russell's single, giving Hooton all the runs he needed to tame the Phillies.

Braves 8, Pirates 6

Darrell Chaney capped a seven-run eighth inning with a three-run triple, helping Atlanta beat Pittsburgh.

A crowd of 48,467, drawn partly by the prospect of a giant fireworks display afterwards, saw Atlanta break a seven-game losing streak to the Pirates, who had not lost to the Braves this season. Atlanta wiped out a 6-1 Pirate lead with their rally.

"I've seen a lot of comebacks in my life," said Chaney, "but this one has to be the best."

Cubs 1, Padres 0
Steve Renko and Joe Coleman combined for a three-hitter and Chicago scored an unearned run in the sixth inning to beat San Diego. Brent Strom was the victim of poor defensive work by his San Diego teammates when the Cubs broke a scoreless tie in the sixth.

Two of the three hits allowed by Reko, 3-4, who left after seven innings, were infield calls. Strom, 8-8, has been the victim of shutouts in four of his last eight starts.

Giants 6, Cardinals 4
Bobby Murcer smashed a double leading off the eighth inning and eventually scored on a double play to snap a 4-4 tie and help San Francisco beat St. Louis. Murcer's hit, his third of the game, came off St. Louis right-hander Harry Rasmussen, 3-7, and helped San Francisco left-hander Gary Lavelle to his third victory against four losses.

Astros 7, Mets 3
Bob Watson's two-run homer ignited a six-run Houston fourth inning, leading the Astros over New York. Houston right-hander Joe Niekro, 4-7, scattered seven hits over the first 6 2-3 innings before retiring in favor of reliever Ken Forsch.

MADISON, Ind. (AP) — Madison Regatta winner Bill Buncey will continue to grip the point lead in American Association Power Boat standings, regardless of what happens next weekend when unlimited hydroplane racing drifts 150 miles downstream to the Kentucky Governor's Cup at Owensboro.

Muncey's Atlas Van Lines cleared the five-lap, 12 1/2-mile Ohio River course 14 seconds ahead of Miss U.S., driven by Tom D'Eath of Detroit, in Sunday's Indiana Governor's Cup race.

Spencer Cooper helped the winning cause with a homer, Dave Riddle rapped two triples and a double and Cole Chattos belted a pair of doubles. Ikey Myers cracked a triple for Washington and Brian Boysel added a pair of hits.

Braves Blank Lancaster To Gain Finals

Logan Elm relied on the strong right arm of Tim Justus to shut out Lancaster Gold, 2-0, and gain a berth in the finals of the Mid State Summer League tournament at Lancaster.

The Braves will face the winner of the Pickerington-Lancaster Blue contest for the championship 6 p.m. Wednesday at Lancaster.

Justus was in control all the way as he scattered three hits, walked two and fanned eight.

Poling was on the hill for Lancaster as he gave up five hits, walked three and struck out three.

Jerry Scanlan and Randy Pontius both rapped a pair of singles for the Braves while Lynn Strehle slashed a one-bagger. Hicks led Lancaster with a double.

The Braves gave Justus all the help he needed in the bottom of the first inning when, with one out, Pontius singled, Strehle singled sending Pontius to third and then Pontius scored on a double steal.

With one out in the third, Scanlan singled, Pontius slammed a one-bagger to give the Braves runners on first and second and both moved up on a wild pitch. Strehle then walked and the Braves final run came when Chuck Cave also walked to force in Scanlan.

Weekend Golf Results At PCC Announced

In weekend golf activities at Pickaway Country Club, Dick Dutch and Frank Gans fired a low net 57 and Bob Moon and Steve Helwage a low gross 66 to win the two man best ball.

Second in the low net division were Jack Hutchison with 58 while Dutch and Gans fired a 67 in the low gross division.

Sunday's flag tournament was won by Dallas Elliott with Cottie Radcliff finishing second and Snap Ankrom third. For the ladies Ruth Elliott was first, Ruth McFadden, Even Brooks, Alma Binkley and Jan McKelvey were second.

Sunday's low round was a 65 by Steve Helwage.

The men's ABCD tournament is scheduled Saturday. Registration for the event may be made at the pro shop.

Harbour Captures Atomic Feature

George Harbour picked up his fifth win of the season Saturday night at Atomic Speedway.

The Huntington W. Va. driver took the 40-lap super sprint feature of the Fourth of July Bicentennial Championship. Starting in the No. 6 position, took five laps Harbour to make it to second place, where he ran into a determined Jim Wical of Bellefontaine. Wical managed to hold out for only five more laps, then it was Harbour all the way in his "Charlie Brown Special". Charlie Swartz of Dayton came in third behind Wical.

John Osman of West Union who had never had a feature win at Atomic, changed that record Saturday night by besting the field of 20 late models in the 40-lap contest. Polesetter Skip Mount of Ironton jumped out to an early lead, but lost a wheel in the fourth lap. This left the field open to second-runner Osman, who took advantage of it to move out half a lap over his nearest contender, Delmas Conley of Wheelersburg, who finished second followed by Jerry McDonald, Chillicothe.

Many started but few finished the hobby stock feature. Dick French and Davy Williams battled for first place most of the 30-lap event, with Williams finally having to settle for second. Larry Brisker finished third.

Fast qualifiers of the evening were Terry Hade in sprints with 14.81, and George Branscom with 17.50 in late models.

Bingman's 12,
Coca Cola 6

It was Jeff Williams and John Adams sharing the mound for Bingman's while Jim Bevins and Ralph Jones were on the hill for Coke.

Jeff Williams paced Bingman's with three hits while Jimmy Raterman had four hits including a double for Coke.

Elks 3,
Herald Hawks 2

It was a pitcher's battle all the way as each team only managed two hits. Tony Cooper and Willie Uhl teamed up on the hill for the winners while Scott Oberly went all the way for the Hawks.

John Cordle rapped a triple and Willie Uhl picked up the other hit for the Elks while Chuck Moorehead rapped a three-bagger and connected for the Hawks hits.

BABE RUTH LEAGUE

Sertoma 5, DuPont 3

Brad Willoughby went the distance for Sertoma while Mark Vanover hurled all the way for the DuPont nine.

Don Holbrook led Sertoma with a double while Mark Vanover rapped two triples for DuPont.

TRI COUNTY GIRLS MINORS

Stoutsville 21,
Saltcreek 13

Sharon Hartley pitched the win for Stoutsville while Tammy Moss was on the hill for Saltcreek.

Sandy Noble led Stoutsville with two triples, Lisa Glendenning and Sharon Hartley both rapped a pair of doubles while Robin Wetherell and Colleen Schlosser each cracked a two-bagger. Lori Woods had a triple for Saltcreek.

TRI COUNTY

LITTLE LEAGUE MINORS

Stoutsville 23,
Washington 12

Eddie Sahr slammed two homers including a grand slam while Dave Riddle and Spencer Cooper shared the hill for Stoutsville. Ikey Myers and Mike Scanlon were on the mound for Washington.

Bill Buncey Winner Of Madison Regatta

MADISON, Ind. (AP) — Madison Regatta winner Bill Buncey will continue to grip the point lead in American Association Power Boat standings, regardless of what happens next weekend when unlimited hydroplane racing drifts 150 miles downstream to the Kentucky Governor's Cup at Owensboro.

Muncey's Atlas Van Lines cleared the five-lap, 12½-mile Ohio River course 14 seconds ahead of Miss U.S., driven by Tom D'Eath of Detroit, in Sunday's Indiana Governor's Cup race.

Spencer Cooper helped the winning cause with a homer, Dave Riddle rapped two triples and a double and Cole Chattos belted a pair of doubles. Ikey Myers cracked a triple for Washington and Brian Boysel added a pair of hits.

Braves Blank Lancaster To Gain Finals

Logan Elm relied on the strong right arm of Tim Justus to shut out Lancaster Gold, 2-0, and gain a berth in the finals of the Mid State Summer League tournament at Lancaster.

The Braves will face the winner of the Pickerington-Lancaster Blue contest for the championship 6 p.m. Wednesday at Lancaster.

Justus was in control all the way as he scattered three hits, walked two and fanned eight.

Poling was on the hill for Lancaster as he gave up five hits, walked three and struck out three.

Jerry Scanlan and Randy Pontius both rapped a pair of singles for the Braves while Lynn Strehle slashed a one-bagger. Hicks led Lancaster with a double.

The Braves gave Justus all the help he needed in the bottom of the first inning when, with one out, Pontius singled, Strehle singled sending Pontius to third and then Pontius scored on a double steal.

With one out in the third, Scanlan singled, Pontius slammed a one-bagger to give the Braves runners on first and second and both moved up on a wild pitch. Strehle then walked and the Braves final run came when Chuck Cave also walked to force in Scanlan.

Weekend Golf Results At PCC Announced

In weekend golf activities at Pickaway Country Club, Dick Dutch and Frank Gans fired a low net 57 and Bob Moon and Steve Helwegen a low gross 66 to win the two man best ball.

Second in the low net division were Jack Hutchison with 58 while Dutch and Gans fired a 67 in the low gross division.

Sunday's flag tournament was won by Dallas Elliott with Cottie Radcliff finishing second and Snap Ankrom third. For the ladies Ruth Elliott was first, Ruth McFadden, Even Brooks, Alma Binkley and Jan McKelvey were second.

Sunday's low round was a 65 by Steve Helwegen.

The men's ABCD tournament is scheduled Saturday. Registration for the event may be made at the pro shop.

Harbour Captures Atomic Feature

George Harbour picked up his fifth win of the season Saturday night at Atomic Speedway.

The Huntington W. Va. driver took the 40-lap super sprint feature of the Fourth of July Bicentennial Championship. Starting in the No. 6 position, took five laps Harbour to make it to second place, where he ran into a determined Jim Wical of Bellefontaine. Wical managed to hold out for only five more laps, then it was Harbour all the way in his "Charlie Brown Special". Charlie Swartz of Dayton came in third behind Wical.

John Osman of West Union who had never had a feature win at Atomic, changed that record Saturday night by besting the field of 20 late models in the 40-lap contest. Polesetter Skip Mount of Ironton jumped out to an early lead, but lost a wheel in the fourth lap. This left the field open to second-runner Osman, who took advantage of it to move out half a lap over his nearest contender, Delmas Conley of Wheelersburg, who finished second followed by Jerry McDonald, Chillicothe.

Many started but few finished the hobby stock feature. Dick French and Davy Williams battled for first place most of the 30-lap event, with Williams finally having to settle for second. Larry Brisker finished third.

Fast qualifiers of the evening were Terry Hade in sprints with 14.81, and George Branscom with 17.50 in late models.

Hot Reds Cool Off Montreal Expos

MONTREAL (AP) — If the Cincinnati Reds were a little redder than usual Monday night, it probably was embarrassment over the ease of their 11-2 conquest of the hapless Montreal Expos.

The Expos, whose won-lost record dropped to 25-46, worst in the majors, were hopelessly out of the running early against the defending world champions.

Cincinnati second baseman Joe Morgan, playing with eight stitches in his side after a recent spiking, belted his second career grand slam home run and a sacrifice fly to drive in five runs, earning a standing ovation from 14,331 fans eager to cheer anybody or anything.

"It's always great to get an ovation any place," said Morgan, the 1975 most valuable player who was taken out of the game in the late innings and who appeared bored by the time it was over.

"I've had some good games here in the past and they've given me ovations. It's happening in a few other places too, lately."

Doug Flynn drove in two runs with his first homer of the year, off Chip Lang, 1-1, the first of five pitchers used by Expos Manager Karl Kuehl.

Cincinnati skipper Sparky Anderson substituted liberally as the count mounted but took pains to catch himself before admitting he didn't want his club to humiliate the Expos too badly. The Expos are in their eighth year of playing expansion baseball.

"We were pretty far out in front," said Anderson. "Well, that is, I wanted to give the guys on the bench playing time because they need the chance. Actually, everybody on our club has played a lot this year because of all the injuries we've had."

Jack Billingham went all the way for the Reds, evening his record at 6-6 with a breezy eight-hitter. He walked two and struck out six.

"There were a couple of innings where they had a couple of men on, but I got out of it okay," Billingham said. In fact, his memory failed him, because the Expos had two baserunners aboard at the same time only in the eighth inning.

"They had a couple of home runs, but they were solos and over quickly," Billingham said.

Pete Mackanin, leading off the fifth, and Andre Thornton, up first in the seventh, hit homers for Montreal, but that was not enough for the Expos.

Burt Hooton's supernatural hold on the Philadelphia Phillies would seem to be a witch doctor's delight, but Dave Cash has a very earthly explanation for it.

"The big secret is his ability to stay ahead on the count against us," says the Phillies' second baseman.

Keeping one pitch — and one step — ahead of Philadelphia has been Hooton's forte. The Los Angeles Dodger right-hander has beaten the Phillies seven straight times since 1974 — including Monday night's 6-0 beauty.

Hooton, who once pitched a no-hitter against the Phillies while a member of the Chicago Cubs, allowed merely a single and double Monday night — both to Garry Maddox.

The performance embarrassed the Phillies before a crowd of 60,942 at Veterans Stadium — the largest ever to see them at home — and a national television audience.

"I guess he figures he can do it everytime he goes out there against us," said a resigned Cash.

In the other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds routed the Montreal Expos 11-2; the Atlanta Braves stopped the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-6; the Chicago Cubs nipped the San Diego Padres 1-0; the San Francisco Giants outscored the St. Louis Cardinals 6-4 and the Houston Astros checked the New York Mets 7-3.

Hooton, who earned his sixth victory and first since June 9, when he beat the Phillies in Los Angeles, got hitting support from Steve Garvey and Bill Russell, each with a solo homer. Russell also singled home the Dodgers' third run.

Los Angeles took a 1-0 lead against Jim Lonborg, the Phillies 10-game winner who suffered his fifth loss. With two out in the first inning, Garvey hit his seventh homer of the season. In the second, Russell led off with a home run, his fourth of 1976. The Dodgers made it 3-0 in the fourth when Reggie Smith blasted a one-out triple and raced home on Russell's single, giving Hooton all the runs he needed to tame the Phillies.

Braves 8, Pirates 6

Darrell Chaney capped a seven-run eighth inning with a three-run triple, helping Atlanta beat Pittsburgh.

A crowd of 48,467, drawn partly by the prospect of a giant fireworks display afterwards, saw Atlanta break a seven-game losing streak to the Pirates, who had not lost to the Braves this season. Atlanta wiped out a 6-1 Pirate lead with their rally.

"I've seen a lot of comebacks in my life," said Chaney, "but this one has to be the best."

Cubs 1, Padres 0

Steve Renko and Joe Coleman combined for a three-hitter and Chicago scored an unearned run in the sixth inning to beat San Diego. Brent Strom was the victim of poor defensive work by his San Diego teammates when the Cubs broke a scoreless tie in the sixth.

Two of the three hits allowed by Renko, 3-4, who left after seven innings, were infield calls. Strom, 8-8, has been the victim of shutouts in four of his last eight starts.

Giants 6, Cardinals 4

Bobby Murcer smashed a double leading off the eighth inning and eventually scored on a double play to snap a 4-4 tie and help San Francisco beat St. Louis. Murcer's hit, his third of the game, came off St. Louis right-hander Harry Rasmussen, 3-7, and helped San Francisco left-hander Gary Lavelle to his third victory against four losses.

Astros 7, Mets 3

Bob Watson's two-run homer ignited a six-run Houston fourth inning, leading the Astros over New York. Houston right-hander Joe Niekro, 4-7, scattered seven hits over the first 6 2/3 innings before retiring in favor of reliever Ken Forsch.

Bosox Trounce Chicago, 11-2

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

In 1967, the Boston Red Sox pulled off "The Impossible Dream."
In 1976, would you believe "The Possible Dream?"

"We had a lot of hits today and that's what we need to get going," outfielder Rick Miller said Monday after the Red Sox rapped out 11 hits and trounced the Chicago White Sox 11-2 to climb into a second-place tie with the Cleveland Indians in the American League East. "Now we can zoom to the top. If the Yankees lose 10 and we win 10, we're there. That's wishful thinking maybe, but that's the way we have to think."

If the Yankees lose 10 and Boston wins 10, the Red Sox will actually be one game in front. They trail by nine since New York dropped a 2-1 squeaker to the Kansas City Royals.

Elsewhere, the Texas Rangers rallied to beat the Detroit Tigers 8-6, the California Angels whipped the Indians 8-1, the Oakland A's downed the Baltimore Orioles 4-1 and the Milwaukee Brewers nipped the Minnesota Twins 3-2.

Rookie Butch Hobson and Cecil Cooper drove in three runs apiece and Luis Tiant scattered 11 hits for his 10th victory as the Red Sox won for the sixth time in their last eight games and reached the .500 mark (37-37) for the first time since April 29.

Hobson, called up from the minors last week, hit a sacrifice fly in the fifth and singled home two runs in the sixth. Cooper delivered a sacrifice fly in the third and a bases-loaded single in the eighth.

Royals 2, Yankees 1
The Royals scored both their runs with two out in the first inning on George Brett's double and singles by John Mayberry, Hal McRae and Al Cowens. Paul Splitteroff posted his sixth consecutive victory with help from three relievers, including Steve Mingeri, who put down a bases-loaded, one-out threat in the ninth.

The Yankees played the game under protest. In the ninth inning, Kansas

City center fielder Amos Otis injured his shoulder trying to make a diving catch and was replaced by McRae, the designated hitter. Yankee Manager Billy Martin cited an American League rule specifying that any substitute other than a pitcher is only allowed five warm-up throws. Umpire Lou DiMuro, the crew chief, agreed with Martin that McRae took more than five although DiMuro tried to stop him.

Rangers 8, Tigers 6
Tom Grieve's bases-loaded single keyed a four-run seventh-inning rally that brought the Rangers to victory after they blew an early 4-0 lead. Five Rangers hit safely in the seventh, including Gene Clines, who had four hits, and Jeff Burroughs, who cracked a pair of doubles. Grieve's two-run shot came between run-scoring singles by Mike Hargrove and Lenny Randle.

Burroughs opened the scoring with a bases-loaded double in the first inning as Texas remained 3½ games behind Kansas City in the AL West.

Angels 8, Indians 1
Dave Chalk and Andy Etchebarren drove in three runs apiece and Gary Ross pitched a five-hitter as the Angels defeated the Indians for the fifth time in a row. They backed Ross with a 15-hit attack, their highest output of the season, against 10-game winner Pat Dobson and two relievers. Dobson was kayoed in California's five-run third as the Indians suffered their fourth straight loss.

A's 4, Orioles 1
Phil Garner's three-run homer and 2-3 innings of scoreless relief pitching by Rollie Fingers paced Oakland's victory. The A's got all their runs in the fifth inning against Rudy May on a walk, an error, Garner's homer, a double by Bill North and a single by Bert Campaneris. Fingers struck out Terry Crowley with the bases loaded in the seventh and went on to preserve Mike Torrez' first triumph since May 31.

Brewers 3, Twins 2
Milwaukee used a pair of errors by Minnesota first baseman Rod Carew to score three unearned runs in the seventh inning and Bill Travers scattered seven hits for his ninth victory. Gorman Thomas opened the seventh with a walk and Carew mishandled Jack Heidemann's bunt. Art Kusnyer also bunted but Carew's throw to third, in plenty of time to force Thomas, was wild, allowing both runners to score. Kusnyer eventually tallied what proved to be the winning run on Robin Yount's single, a walk to Don Money and Hank Aaron's checked-swing grounder.

Local Youths Win Track Ribbons

David and John Cordle, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cordle, Route 2, picked up a total of six ribbons in the Junior Olympic Track and Field Meet Friday and Saturday at the Ohio State University stadium.

David, 14, won the low hurdles, placed second in the discus and was fifth in the mile run. He will compete in the low hurdles and discus in the State Championship Meet Saturday at Reading High School, Cincinnati. The first four places in the 12 to 17 age group qualified for the state.

John, 11, placed second in the long jump. Was third in the 50-yard dash and placed fifth in the 100-yard dash.

Their sister, Judy, 15, placed sixth in both the shot put and low hurdles. Junior Olympic ribbons were awarded to the first five places in all events.

Nicklaus Favored In British Open

BIRKDALE, England (AP) — The British oddsmakers don't think the winners of the 1976 Masters and U.S. Open will take a second Big Four title when the British Open crowns its champion on Saturday.

The bookies have established Ray Floyd, runaway winner of the Masters, and Jerry Pate, the 22-year-old American tour rookie who won the U.S. Open, as 25-1 longshots to take the prestigious British Open crown.

Installed as the 5-1 betting favorite of this event, which begins its four rounds on Wednesday, was Jack Nicklaus, whose 16 major championships is the most by any golfer ever.

Because of drought conditions, the Royal Birkdale course has been described as a fire trap. Barrels holding 40 gallons of water surround the course for possible use if fire breaks out.

A grass fire sent firemen rushing to a blaze on the eighth hole Monday. Smoking already has been banned at a nearby trade exhibition, where thousands of dollars of golf equipment was on display. The parched course, however, should be ideal for heavy hitters like Nicklaus, who has won the British Open twice — at Muirfield, Scotland in 1966 and at St. Andrews, Scotland in 1970.

After Nicklaus on the bookies' lists are Johnny Miller, 8-1; Hale Irwin and 1973 champion Tom Weiskopf, each 12-1, and Gary Player, 14-1. Player has won this title three times, the last time in 1974.

Lee Trevino, winner in 1971 and 1972, had been listed at 16-1 but was forced to withdraw because of a nagging back ailment that has limited his play the last month.

Joining Pate and Floyd as 25-1 shots are Ben Crenshaw and Tom Watson, last year's winner.

Fidrych And Hunter Head AL Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie sensation Mark "the Bird" Fidrych and five-time 20-game winner Catfish Hunter head the American League's nine-man All-Star pitching staff, announced today by Boston Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson.

Johnson, manager of the American Leaguers for the 47th All-Star Game July 13 at Philadelphia, hopes his staff of five starters and four relievers can reverse the trend that has carried the National Leaguers to victory in 12 of the last 13 midseason games, including last year's 6-3 triumph.

Four of the nine hurlers are All-Stars for the first time, including Fidrych, the exciting non-conformist of the Detroit Tigers, whose crowd-pleasing antics include talking to the ball and getting down on his hands and knees to smooth out the pitching mound. He leads the regular AL pitchers with a 1.85 earned run average and has a 9-1 record. The other All-Star newcomers are AL strikeout leader Frank Tanana of the California Angels, Bill Travers of the Milwaukee Brewers and relief ace Dave LaRoche of the Cleveland Indians.

Completing the staff are Boston's Luis Tiant, selected for the third time, Oakland's Rollie Fingers, also for the third time, and second-timers Rich Gossage of the Chicago White Sox and Sparky Lyle of the Yankees.

The veteran of the staff is Hunter, the New York Yankees ace right-hander, who has been named for the eighth time — six times while he was with the Oakland A's. Hunter has appeared in five All-Star Games. He was tagged for two of the three runs the National League scored in the ninth inning last year, when it broke a 3-3 tie and sent Hunter to his second All-Star loss. He was the loser in the 1967 game.

The regular starters include Hunter, 10-7; Tiant, 10-5; Tanana, 10-5; Travers, 9-6, and Fidrych. Tanana and Travers are the left-handed hurlers among the group.

Tiant's two appearances on the AL All-Star staff both have resulted in losses, in 1968 when he was with Cleveland and in 1974 when he was with Boston.

The relievers on the squad are left-handers Lyle and LaRoche and right-handers Fingers and Gossage, who has doubled as a starter and reliever this season.

Lyle tops the relievers with 16 saves, while Fingers has 11 and LaRoche has 10.

Johnson said he hasn't made up his mind yet on which pitchers will get into the game, and in what order.

Memphis Victorious Over Tidewater, 5-4

By The Associated Press
Bob Allietta homered in the seventh inning Monday evening to give Memphis its margin of victory, a 5-4 decision over International League baseball rival Tidewater.

Terry Puhl had three singles and two RBIs for the Blues, who scored one run in the second inning and three runs in the fourth.

In other IL action Monday, Toledo notched 9-3 and 9-6 victories over Rhode Island; Rochester blanked Syracuse 3-0 and Richmond defeated Charleston 7-2.

Bosox Trounce Chicago, 11-2

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

In 1967, the Boston Red Sox pulled off "The Impossible Dream."
In 1976, would you believe "The Possible Dream?"

"We had a lot of hits today and that's what we need to get going," outfielder Rick Miller said Monday after the Red Sox rapped out 11 hits and trounced the Chicago White Sox 11-2 to climb into a second-place tie with the Cleveland Indians in the American League East. "Now we can zoom to the top. If the Yankees lose 10 and we win 10, we're there. That's wishful thinking maybe, but that's the way we have to think."

If the Yankees lose 10 and Boston wins 10, the Red Sox will actually be one game in front. They trail by nine since New York dropped a 2-1 squeaker to the Kansas City Royals.

Elsewhere, the Texas Rangers rallied to beat the Detroit Tigers 8-6, the California Angels whipped the Indians 8-1, the Oakland A's downed the Baltimore Orioles 4-1 and the Milwaukee Brewers nipped the Minnesota Twins 3-2.

Rookie Butch Hobson and Cecil Cooper drove in three runs apiece and Luis Tiant scattered 11 hits for his 10th victory as the Red Sox won for the sixth time in their last eight games and reached the .500 mark (37-37) for the first time since April 29.

Hobson, called up from the minors last week, hit a sacrifice fly in the fifth and singled home two runs in the sixth. Cooper delivered a sacrifice fly in the third and a bases-loaded single in the eighth.

Royals 2, Yankees 1

The Royals scored both their runs with two out in the first inning on George Brett's double and singles by John Mayberry, Hal McRae and Al Cowens. Paul Splittorff posted his sixth consecutive victory with help from three relievers, including Steve Mingori, who put down a bases-loaded, one-out threat in the ninth.

The Yankees played the game under protest. In the ninth inning, Kansas

City center fielder Amos Otis injured his shoulder trying to make a diving catch and was replaced by McRae, the designated hitter. Yankee Manager Billy Martin cited an American League rule specifying that any substitute other than a pitcher is only allowed five warm-up throws. Umpire Lou DiMuro, the crew chief, agreed with Martin that McRae took more than five although DiMuro tried to stop him.

Rangers 8, Tigers 6

Tom Grieve's bases-loaded single keyed a four-run seventh-inning rally that brought the Rangers to victory after they blew an early 4-0 lead. Five Rangers hit safely in the seventh, including Gene Clines, who had four hits, and Jeff Burroughs, who cracked a pair of doubles. Grieve's two-run shot came between run-scoring singles by Mike Hargrove and Lenny Randle.

Burroughs opened the scoring with a bases-loaded double in the first inning as Texas remained 3½ games behind Kansas City in the AL West.

Angels 8, Indians 1

Dave Chalk and Andy Etchebarren drove in three runs apiece and Gary Ross pitched a five-hitter as the Angels defeated the Indians for the fifth time in a row. They backed Ross with a 15-hit attack, their highest output of the season, against 10-game winner Pat Dobson and two relievers. Dobson was kayoed in California's five-run third as the Indians suffered their fourth straight loss.

A's 4, Orioles 1

Phil Garner's three-run homer and 2-3 innings of scoreless relief pitching by Rollie Fingers paced Oakland's victory. The A's got all their runs in the fifth inning against Rudy May on a walk, an error, Garner's homer, a double by Bill North and a single by Bert Campaneris. Fingers struck out Terry Crowley with the bases loaded in the seventh and went on to preserve Mike Torrez' first triumph since May 31.

Brewers 3, Twins 2

Milwaukee used a pair of errors by Minnesota first baseman Rod Carew to score three unearned runs in the seventh inning and Bill Travers scattered seven hits for his ninth victory. Gorman Thomas opened the seventh with a walk and Carew mishandled Jack Heidemann's bunt. Art Kusnyer also bunted but Carew's throw to third, in plenty of time to force Thomas, was wild, allowing both runners to score. Kusnyer eventually tallied what proved to be the winning run on Robin Yount's single, a walk to Don Money and Hank Aaron's checked-swing grounder.

Local Youths Win Track Ribbons

David and John Cordle, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cordle, Route 2, picked up a total of six ribbons in the Junior Olympic Track and Field Meet Friday and Saturday at the Ohio State University stadium.

David, 14, won the low hurdles, placed second in the discus and was fifth in the mile run. He will compete in the low hurdles and discus in the State Championship Meet Saturday at Reading High School, Cincinnati. The first four places in the 12 to 17 age group qualified for the state.

John, 11, placed second in the long jump. Was third in the 50-yard dash and placed fifth in the 100-yard dash.

Their sister, Judy, 15, placed sixth in both the shot put and low hurdles. Junior Olympic ribbons were awarded to the first five places in all events.

Nicklaus Favored In British Open

BIRKDALE, England (AP) — The British oddsmakers don't think the winners of the 1976 Masters and U.S. Open will take a second Big Four title when the British Open crowns its champion on Saturday.

The bookies have established Ray Floyd, runaway winner of the Masters, and Jerry Pate, the 22-year-old American tour rookie who won the U.S. Open, as 25-1 longshots to take the prestigious British Open crown.

Installed as the 5-1 betting favorite of this event, which begins its four rounds on Wednesday, was Jack Nicklaus, whose 16 major championships is the most by any golfer ever.

Because of drought conditions, the Royal Birkdale course has been described as a fire trap. Barrels holding 40 gallons of water surround the course for possible use if fire breaks out.

A grass fire sent firemen rushing to a blaze on the eighth hole Monday. Smoking already has been banned at a nearby trade exhibition, where thousands of dollars of golf equipment was on display. The parched course, however, should be ideal for heavy hitters like Nicklaus, who has won the British Open twice — at Muirfield, Scotland in 1966 and at St. Andrews, Scotland in 1970.

Lee Trevino, winner in 1971 and 1972, had been listed at 16-1 but was forced to withdraw because of a nagging back ailment that has limited his play the last month.

Joining Pate and Floyd as 25-1 shots are Ben Crenshaw and Tom Watson, last year's winner.

Fidrych And Hunter Head AL Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie sensation Mark "the Bird" Fidrych and five-time 20-game winner Catfish Hunter head the American League's nine-man All-Star pitching staff, announced today by Boston Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson.

Your Views On Horoscope Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some detail you overlooked may upset the smooth tenor of your work. Pick up where most practical and go on. Crying over "spilt milk" is a waste of time.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Getting what you want — and quickly — may be day's main problem. The answer lies just around the corner. Don't expect it to be obvious, however. You'll have to dig deep.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You grasp ideas easily, see benefits to be gained where others only note the obstacles. Use your instincts NOW — and go forward.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): If considering a new proposition, study carefully, regardless of who wishes to hurry things through. View offerings with an eye to the future.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Your public relations accentuated now, with special emphasis on responses to your efforts and presentation of ideas. Curb your innate aggressiveness. Win your way through tact and diplomacy.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Take a close look at factors which influence your decisions. Try to build a sturdier platform to insure a more successful assault on objectives. And do NOT lose faith in them.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Don't shirk responsibility. Accept its challenge. Especially now when a person in authority has already become intrigued with your potentials.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): A step in the right direction can be accelerated later when footing is surer. If you do get a wrong start, switch tactics or change pace. You CAN make it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): An on-and-off day, but you should do well if you stress your innate competence and perseverance. In some matters you'll gain more by following unconventional methods.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20): Avoid the illogical and close your eyes to the dubious schemes of others — no matter how attractively they may be presented. Don't be blinded by your emotions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your management of material resources now comes up for review and, perhaps, criticism. Keep things orderly and in balance. Verify all "information" if you'd stay ahead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Look for the "loopholes" that trick needlessly; be alert to misrepresentation; sift carefully for truths. Once sure you are on the right track, go ahead confidently — and profitably.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with unusual sensitivity stamina and love of knowledge. You are practical, imaginative, conventional and have a great reverence for the traditional. You have considerable inventive ability, backed up by technical perfection; would make an outstanding scientist. You sometimes lack confidence in yourself, however, and must learn to conquer your doubts and fears if you are to achieve the fine potential which is innately yours. You also have an artistic bent and could paint, write or compose music. In architecture, your work would show an extraordinary eye for line and proportion. Other fields suited to your talents: the law and medicine. Birthdate of: Marc Chagall, modern painter; Vince Edwards, actor.

Views On Tiger

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Despite the cries about violence, blue skies adventure has never been very successful on television.

Footloose heroes courting danger in wide open spaces — as "Adventures in Paradise," "Route 66" and "Then Came Bronson" — have been elbowed aside by guys with six-guns and police specials. "Although comedy and variety serve the family hour, it's difficult to find a dramatic show that serves it," said Larry Rosen, producer of CBS' "Spencer's Pilots," an upcoming aviation show with enough blue skies to last you all week.

Rosen believes the "climate is right" for this humor-leavened adventure that seeks to establish a Clark Gable-Spencer Tracy relationship between its stars, Christopher Stone and Todd Susman. Gene Evans plays Spencer, the gruff head of the charter flying service.

"I think the TV audience has tired somewhat of the proverbial cop show," he said. "What is inherent in the cop show is you have a life and death situation. If you like the character you'll go to that show to see how he will handle a problem."

"What's unique here is that our guys don't carry badges. They have to figure out a way to get out of jeopardy using their wits, cunning and flying ability."

The family hour, inaugurated a year ago by the networks to cut back sex and violence in the early evening, has proven a quagmire for series. Not many have survived.

If "Spencer's Pilots" is to go beyond its first 12 episodes it must, like "The $6 Million Man" and "The Bionic Woman," provide enough derring-do to attract youngsters without driving away the adults.

Rosen, who says the charter pilot background is a first for TV, called on his own flying experience for the show. The personalities and character names are molded after fliers he has known. His enthusiasm for aviation apparently is contagious: the cast went out and took flying lessons.

"What we've tried to do is design a fixed base of operations for the show," Rosen said. "Spencer Aviation rents planes, teaches flying, flies charters and ferries equipment and supplies."

"Because of this we're able to get them into such situations as flying explosives or prisoners or doing crop dusting. These are two guys who fly for a living and the stories will arise from that." Production begins Wednesday, July 7, and will follow a technique confined so far in television to three-camera comedy series filmed before an audience. It will devote one day a week to reading and rehearsal.

"That's unheard of in this kind of show," Rosen said. "But it will be invaluable in helping the guys find their characters and in seeing what works and what doesn't."

Use your Mini-Mizer to add up that store's total for the same items you just bought at Kroger.

3 COMPARE THE TOTALS.
We believe Kroger's total will be lower. But if you have any doubts, invest 77¢ and an hour of your time in making the test. See how much you can save, and settle any doubts for sure.
